Today

Behind the Great Wall,
Noise Is Not All.
Cortin, Life Elixir.
Hypotheses Die Young.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

AGAIN, PLEASE observe that what has been predicted of airplane importance in war, is grim reality in Manchuria. A dispatch from Peiping, late yesterday, says:

"The intense activity of Japanese planes between Chinchow and the Great Wall of China at Shanhaikwah caused Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang to order his troops to withdraw from Chinchow. He told International News Service early today. The movement began at midnight."

THERE ARE things more powerful than mere noise. Arthur Kudner, who knows about advertising, told W. J. McAneeny, president of the Hudson Motor Car Company, that every advertising man ought to know about Fred Patzel, of Iowa, champion hog caller of the world.

Congratulated on his loud voice, able to call hogs from so great a distance, Patzel said:

"It's not all power. It's also appeal. You must have in your voice something to convince the hog that you have what he wants."

Young advertising men should remember that.

BUT NOISE, of itself, is power sometimes. You know about Stentor, the Greek warrior whose voice, as he roared before the walls of Troy, was "as loud as that of 50 men," and frightened the Trojans undoubtedly. We get our word "stentorian" from him.

You know also the "Bulls of Bashan," that munched grass on the eastern side of the Jordan. "The strong bulls of Bashan have beset me round," says the Twenty-second Psalm. Those bulls had a terrible bellow.

BUT THE GREATEST NOISE—cynics will call the fact appropriate—belongs to Chicago.

When that city offered $150,000 cash and a hall with 25,000 seats for the Republican convention, party managers were moved only slightly.

But when Chicago's spokesman said, "We have the most powerful organ in the world and don't dare let it go full blast, because it would break every electric light bulb in the house," Chicago was selected for the convention, unanimously.

Unless conditions improve, that organ and a dozen like it will be needed by the Republicans in 1932.

OLD ALCHEMISTS sought vainly the "elixir of youth." Modern science discovers it in a rare substance called "cortin," "a hormone, or secretion from the covering of the adrenal glands."

This cortin is actually an elixir of life, causing restful sleep and a sense of happiness, increasing strength and memory, enabling the body to resist heat and cold, endure fatigue and nerve strain.

Science is only beginning to understand the "fearfully and wonderfully made" thing called a human being.

DR. EINSTEIN, arriving in California, will be welcome, as owner of a most active and powerful brain.

What importance will attach to his "discoveries" in years to come, nobody knows. Hypotheses often die young. The world long ago accepted and then rejected the "nebular hypothesis," the "theory of mortices" and many another.

It first accepted the "corpuscular" theory of light, then rejected it for the wave theory, and now goes back to the corpuscular theory, seeing in light a stream of separate particles of something.

Theories that last are only those that can be demonstrated by experiment, like Newton's law of gravitation, Galileo's demonstration of the earth's motion with the great lamp swinging inside, and others.

REMEMBER THAT mere freezing does not destroy dangerous germs. Vegetables and other products may contain, in active form, the deadly botulinus germ, even if frozen solid at 50 or 100 degrees below zero.

Only intense heat sterilizes and destroys germs.

THIS SCIENCE finds important because it proves that life could come from outer space through the freezing ether, at "absolute zero," and start anew on this planet, without a special life creation.

It is probable that our original ancestor, a microscopic life germ, may have come sailing through the air, riding on a meteor.

That is what evolution says.

EXCEPTING FRANCE and the United States, no nation on the earth has an adequate supply of gold for use as money.

Getting along without the sacred yellow metal must be done, somehow, for nations must trade, products must be exchanged.

Sweden and Persia are now negotiating a commercial agreement that will enable the two countries to exchange products by "barter," no gold entering into the transactions.

What the effect will be on France and the United States if other nations manage to get along without gold, is uncertain.

State Seeks Light on Loans Involving Third of Million

Debts totaling about a third of a million dollars, with questionable if any security in many cases, were under investigation by State Banking Department officials today in preparation for state hearings on the closed Franklin Savings and Trust Company's affairs, January 25.

Dealings of D. Kellerman, of the Agricultural Exchange, a produce firm, in debt to the bank for more than $250,000, are being investigated by banking department officials, who, under Special Deputy Secretary George F. Taylor, Jr., will conduct the questioning of debtors, former employes and officials.

Also under examination are reports that a bank officer helped himself to approximately $25,000 cash, receiving authorization by applying for and receiving a "loan" of that amount nine months later.

BANK DEBTORS

Indebted to the bank on N. S. F. checks, returned drafts, loans secured by mortgages, and mortgages, Kellerman is one of three principal debtors of the bank. Others are Herman Friedman, indorser of notes for former City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley, and second mortgage dealer, and Michael H. Parrish, Inc., con-

Morrow Appointment Confirmed in Senate

HARRISBURG, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The senate today confirmed the appointment of John K. Morrow, Pittsburgh, as chairman of the Pittsburgh Board of Registration Commissioners. The other two members, E. Lowry Humes, and Mrs. Sara C. Braun, were not confirmed.

BOMB MAILED CONSULATE HERE, ANOTHER KILLS POSTAL CLERK

GRAND JURY WITNESS HELD

Detained in Schooley Quiz 'Until His Memory Clears;' Probers Hear Garland

Developments came rapidly today as the grand jury's investigation of the official practices of Roy D. Schooley, deposed City Treasurer, neared an end. Outstanding were these:

1—Max Engleberg, former bondsman for the McCarthy brothers, long missing witness in the Al Forney slot machine case, taken into custody by county detectives "until his memory clears."

2—Councilman Robert Garland, reputed borrower from closed Franklin Savings and Trust Company, testified.

3—Expense accounts of Mayor Charles H. Kline in 1929 campaign mysteriously missing from Clerk of Courts' office.

Max Engleberg, described as a real estate operator, called as a witness in the Schooley investigation, was turned over to county detectives this afternoon by Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt, after Engleberg apparently was an unwilling witness.

Opening the door of the grand jury room and ushering Engleberg out, Langfitt called to County Detective Michael J. Ford:

"Take this man over to the detective headquarters and keep him there until his memory clears up."

FORNEY CASE BONDSMAN

Engleberg was bondsman for the McCarthy brothers, Dale, Jack and Mack, repairmen for Al Forney, alleged slot machine king. They disappeared before Forney, who who ultimately acquitted, was called for trial, but later appeared.

Councilman Garland was questioned for 15 minutes immediately preceding the noon recess. Before entering the grand jury room he said he had no idea why he was summoned. Emerging later, smiling, he remarked:

"It was all very simple."

At the time the Franklin Savings and Trust Company, which had unsecured city deposits, closed last fall, Garland owed the bank $2,900, secured by 250 shares

Rain or Snow and Cheaper Whoopee for New Year

The new year probably will be ushered in with rain or light snow, according to a prediction from the weather bureau today. Terrific snowstorms which have deluged the Northwest are expected to turn to rain by the time they reach Pittsburgh.

It was raining in the lower Ohio Valley today, and this storm is expected to sweep into Pittsburgh tonight or tomorrow, with a possibility that the rain might turn to light snow. A temperature of 40 is expected tonight.

The cost of whoopee has fallen, along with other commodities—if you can call a table for two and cracked ice commodities.

A poll of night clubs' and hotels' plans for New Year's Eve reveals the cost of taking the girl friend out to greet 1932 in a big way will be much less than that of welcoming 1931.

Where a year ago the top price in the clubs was $25 a couple for couverts, dinner, breakfast, mineral waters and ice. Thursday's highest charge for the same setup will be $15.

If your girl intends to drink the New Year's health, you'll find the stuff that prohibition was supposed to bar will cost about the same as it did last year—$5 a pint for Scotch and rye, $3 a quart for gin, and from $10 to $15 a quart for champagne and other fancy drinks.

Director James M. Clark and Supt. Peter P. Walsh agreed to permit the cabarets to remain open until 2 a. m.

Labor Pleads For U. S. Fund To Aid Jobless

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The American Federation of Labor today threw the full force of its influence squarely behind the drive for direct federal appropriations for unemployment relief.

Edward F. McGrady, legislative representative of the federation, told a Senate committee a national emergency exists which can be met only by the federal government. He estimated 7,500,000 will be out of work next year.

It was the first time the federation has taken a stand on the issue of federal relief, to which President Hoover is opposed.

CROWD HEARS PLEA

The only Senators who heard McGrady's testimony were LaFollette (Rep.), of Wisconsin, and Costigan (Dem.), of Colorado. They are sponsoring bills for federal appropriations of $250,000,000 and $375,000,000, respectively.

The big committee room was about filled with spectators, however, including welfare leaders and Herbert Benjamin, leader of the unemployed demonstrators, who marched on Washington at the opening of Congress.

Federal aid also was asked by other witnesses today.

PLEA FOR SUFFERING

McGrady asserted:

"Is our Federal government going to allow untold numbers of our American citizens to suffer, if indeed they do not die, from cold and hunger in the coming months, which undoubtedly will be the worst period of hardships that this nation has ever witnessed?

"Or will the Federal government protect the health and lives of our men, women and children by liberally assisting the states, cities and isolated districts that are unable to help themselves?

"It is the belief of the American Federation of Labor that the national lawmakers should not shirk this responsibility. Indeed, it is a great opportunity for the Federal government to renew the faith of the people in their government, a faith that has been badly shattered in the last three years."

KLINE EXPENSE REPORT GONE

The 1929 expense account of Mayor Charles H. Kline's campaign committee is missing from the files of the Clerk of Courts office, it was reported today. It was in the Clerk of Courts office when auditors from District Attorney Andrew T. Park's office examined the expense account and vouchers a week ago. At that time they made various notations. The campaign cost $104,000.

Yesterday when the papers were sought for presentation to the grand jury, only the vouchers were found. A search of the files of the Clerk of Courts office is being made to see if the missing expense account might have been re-filed with some other papers.

The Mayor's personal expense account showed he spent $5,392.15 in his campaign for the Republican nomination. Of this $217.65 was listed as paid and $5,174.50 as unpaid bills. This account is in the proper files.

Speculation was rife as to the use the grand jury was to make of the missing expense account. The account listed the contributors. A large portion of the expenses was met by a note negotiated through the Franklin Savings & Trust Company.

Other missing documents in the Schooley case include an N. S. F. check for $9,800 and a note, securing it, for $10,000, both signed by Schooley, which disappeared from the Franklin Bank shortly after their discovery. The note was indorsed by Herman Friedman.

Government bonds, valued at $125,000, shown to Kerr by Schooley's special investigator, Arthur G. Burgoyne, as security for a deposit in the Franklin Bank disappeared, Burgoyne, too, disappeared.

Boy's Death Brings Grid Deaths to 15

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Football today had claimed another victim, the forty-fifth of the year to die. He was Nicholas Cicone, 18, who died at a hospital here after suffering 14 months from injuries received in a game while attending St. Benedict's Preparatory School.

TOKIO ARMY SWEEPS ON CHINCHOW

Troops Continue Smashing Offensive; China Faced With Civil War Threat

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service.

PEIPING, Dec. 30.—Japan's smashing offensive against the city of Chinchow continued unabated today despite the stampede of Chinese troops from that important railway city. The Chinese Manchurian army was in full flight.

Japanese forces, sweeping down the Peiping-Mukden Railway from Hsinmin, captured the towns of Paichipao and Tahushan, while another army advanced swiftly from Panshan toward Koupangtze. The main segments of the Japanese army were converging speedily on Koupangtze, where they will be within easy striking distance of Chinchow.

Whether the Japanese forces will be concentrated and held indefinitely at Koupangtze, or whether they will march boldly into the evacuated city of Chinchow was the subject of much speculation here.

CIVIL WAR THREAT

Meanwhile, a puzzled China faced a grave internal crisis with possibility of a new civil war through the uprising of political foes of Marshal Chang Hseuh-Liang, former Manchurian governor, whose order to retreat from Chinchow startled the world as well as his own nation.

China was apprehensive regarding the recent landing of Japanese troops in Tientsin, dangerously near here, and many expressed the fear that the Japanese might seize and occupy the native part of the city and then even attempt to force Chang to abandon Peiping itself.

TRUCE FORESEEN

The removal of Marshal Chang's troops was believed here to be in line with the policies of Can-

Drown Bootleggers In Beer, Helen Urges

MRS. HELEN WILLS MOODY: DROWN THE BOOTLEGGER IN BEER

SHOOTS HERSELF 'JUST FOR FUN'

A 20-year-old girl is in the Pittsburgh Hospital today with a bullet wound, which she told county detectives was self-inflicted, in her abdomen.

She is Phyllis Stashinski, whose parents live near Monongahela, but who has been making her home for several years with a cousin, Mrs. Pauline Alinoff, near Cheswick.

Mrs. Alinoff, awakened early today by the shot, went to the bathroom and found the girl on the floor.

County Detective John Carmichael asked the girl why she had shot herself. She answered:

"Just for fun."

Later, Carmichael said, she told him:

"I don't know why I did it."

County detectives found a note addressed to Mrs. Alinoff in the girl's room. It read:

"Dear Pauline:

"I am sorry to do this in your house. I guess I am a coward but I don't give a damn. I am just tired. PHYLLIS."

Detectives questioned Salvatore Bruno, a friend of the girl who had driven her to her father's home yesterday, but announced that he apparently had no connection with the shooting.

1931 Auto Plate Extension Refused

Any motorist driving with 1931 license plates after midnight tomorrow will be arrested on sight, Assistant Superintendent of Police Ben R. Marshall announced today. Marshall said that the state motor vehicle department had refused to grant extension on the plates and the city police had been instructed to arrest all violators.

Drinkers Happy Says Tennis Star; Would Change Dry Law

By MILTON G. DUNLAP
International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.

"The bootlegger ought to be drowned in national beer."

Prohibition is just one of the things Helen thought about while on her trip to Honolulu, Japan and China, where she played exhibition matches. She told International News Service:

"I don't touch anything myself, you know, but I don't think it is fair for the bootlegger to get all the money he does when so many others are in want. He pays no taxes, either. And look at the graft and corruption!

"It seems to me the whole thing is all wrong. Prohibition is wonderful. But it seemingly can't be made a success, so why not try to remedy it?

Wheeling Revives Old Curfew Law

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The ancient curfew law was invoked yesterday, ordering all minors off the streets by 10 p. m. State's Attorney A. C. Schiffler said he resorted to the curfew in an effort to curb "a pronounced increase in juvenile delinquency."

EXPLOSION INJURES THREE

Two Men Address Infernal Machine in Easton Federal Building; Seen by Pastor

A plot to blow up the Italian consulate, 514 Neville street, and the Argentine consulate in Baltimore, Md., and other places was bared today by the explosion of a package in the Easton (Pa.) postoffice in which one clerk was killed and three others injured seriously.

Investigators discovered the plot when they found five packages in the Easton parcel post room, one of which was addressed to "V. Cuto, 514 Neville street, Pittsburgh," the address of the Italian consulate here.

The package which exploded, according to an Associated Press dispatch, bore the return address of "Mr. Markey, 251 Main street, Dover, N. J." The four remaining packages all bore the same return address, according to the dispatch.

ALERT FOR PLOTS

Dr. Giovanni Giurato, Italian consul here, indicated the caution he had taken since the bombing of his home and office last August would have frustrated the plot had the package arrived in the mail. No one was injured in the August explosion, although the building was damaged.

He said the package would not have been received because there is no such person as "V. Cuto" in his office. Postoffice employes pointed out, however, that since the package was sent parcel post, a delivery receipt would not necessarily need to be signed. Dr. Giurato said:

"Had the package arrived here it would not have been accepted since there is no one of the name of Cuto here. I do not think the package was meant for the consulate.

"There was a man by the name of V. Cuto in Latrobe; a notary public, but he is dead now. No, I do not think the package was meant for me."

SECOND MAY DIE

The explosion in Easton resulted in the death of Edward Werkheiser and the injuring of John House, Arlington A. Albert and Clarence Keller, the Associated Press dispatch said. House is not expected to live, according to hospital authorities, but the condition of the others was regarded as "fair."

Two youths, apparently foreigners, were believed to have mailed the packages. Postoffice employes

HOUSE DEFEATS RATE CUT MOVE

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 30.—Gov. Pinchot was defeated today in an effort to win approval of the House for revival of the public utility issue as material to urge the calling of another special session of the Legislature next spring.

Overwhelmingly the House voted down two resolutions by Representatives Frank Reed and Matthew Dunn, of Allegheny County, calling on the Public Service Commission to conduct an investigation of utility rates. Both Reed and Dunn followed the Governor in the last regular session, when the utility issue was the big question.

NEW MOVE LIKELY

The resolutions were seen as an effort by the administration to develop rate information which might be used to argue for new legislation at another special session to bring down utility tariffs

'Next President?' Topic Of Hearst Radio Talk

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—"Who Will Be the Next President?" is the topic of a nation-wide radio talk to be given by William Randolph Hearst next Saturday.

Mr. Hearst, speaking from Los Angeles, will be heard over the entire facilities of the National Broadcasting Company.

The time set for the broadcast is 7:15 to 7:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. Hearst will speak from the studios of KFI-KECA, the Earl C. Anthony stations in Los Angeles.

DR. MONTGOMERY, MUSKINGUM COLLEGE HEAD, DIES IN OHIO

U.P. MODERATOR HAD BEEN ILL NINE WEEKS

Native of Tennessee, Had Distinguished Career as Churchman and Educator

ZANESVILLE, O., Dec. 30.—Dr. Hugh Montgomery, 70, president of Muskingum College since 1904, died at the United Presbyterian General Assembly here today, in Bethesda hospital from a complication of diseases. He had been ill nine weeks.

The son of a restless pioneer family, who [illegible] Dr. Hugh Montgomery was born in Bellefonte, Tenn., the first of the Rev. Andrew Mitchell Montgomery and Grace Matthews Montgomery. Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine, Prof. Robert Nathaniel Montgomery and the Rev. Paul Spence Montgomery.

EARLY EDUCATION

He studied at Maryville College, Tennessee, Ohio State University, and graduated from Xenia Seminary in 1887. He received degrees in 1904 and was awarded a Doctor of Divinity degree from Muskingum College.

He was married to Emma Zella Patton of Hamilton, O., in 1887. He was ordained a United Presbyterian minister in 1887. He served pastorates in the First United Presbyterian Church, Hamilton, O., from 1887 until 1890. Then he went to Santa Fe, Cincinnati and Chicago and became president of Muskingum College in 1904.

SERVED AS EDITOR

He was editor of the Evangel, a monthly religious publication, from 1894 to 1904, of the Christian Union Herald from 1904 until 1914, of a department of the Christian Instructor from 1900 to 1905, and of the Religious Preacher from 1905 until 1904.

Dr. Montgomery was general secretary of the young people's work of the denomination in the South in 1903 and 1904. The presidency of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League was held by Dr. Montgomery in 1914 and he also headed the Ohio and National Anti-Cigaret Alliance. During the World War he served as a Y. M. C. A. secretary.

He leaves six children, Mrs. Mary Grace Mabry, John Knox Montgomery, Jr., the Rev. Donal Montgomery, Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine, Prof. Robert Nathaniel Montgomery and the Rev. Paul Spence Montgomery.

HOOVER STUDIES ARMS AIMS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The almost completed American delegation to the Geneva disarmament conference has not yet been told what to do on three important questions which will come up at the parley.

The reason is that President Hoover himself has not fully made up his mind about them.

Probably foremost is whether the United States will agree that arms limitation shall be attained by fixing the amount of money a nation may spend on its forces. The United States policy has been that armaments should be directly limited.

A compromise suggestion is that the reduction should come in comparison to the amount a nation spent in previous years and not by comparing the expenditures with other nations.

Whether to attempt to restrict aerial fighting forces is also getting detailed study by the administration.

The American attitude on whether an armament treaty should contain a provision which would allow signers to waive their agreement if threatened by preparations by a nonsignatory nation is also yet to be determined.

Dawes Quits London To Talk With Hoover

His trip to the United States supposedly is to be made to confer with President Hoover on the disarmament situation.

of stock of the Garland Manufacturing Company and other collateral, it was said. He is believed to have been questioned concerning this loan.

EXPECT CLOSE TODAY

At the conclusion of this morning's session, District Attorney Andrew T. Park said:

"The grand jury expects to complete its investigation today. Tomorrow will be spent in preparing a presentment to the court. As to whether we will be able to complete the document tomorrow I cannot say."

Park was silent on probable indictments. Reports were current that at least two would be recommended, presumably based on alleged rebating of delinquent tax penalties or acceptance of postdated checks said to have been held in the Treasurer's office and some of them never cashed although carried on the books as cash.

SCAN TAX BOOKS

Tax receipt books were carried into the grand jury room this morning, indicative that the closing hours of the investigation would center on alleged irregularities in the issuance of tax receipts, especially rebating of penalties to politicians and possibly racketeers.

Engleberg was active in seeking WOMEN TESTIFY

Among those who testified today, presumably regarding tax payments to the city, were Mrs. Rebecca Brown, to address her reputed agent Charles Flinn, a member of the recent redistricting commission; Mrs. Charlotte McGiffin, of Grace street; Daniel O'Connell, a laborer in the Department of Public Works; Eugene Smeltzer, C. C. Hamilton, Mrs. Ellen Meenan, C. H. Lenz, of Bellevue; Ralph A. McGiffen, a clerk in the deed registry office, and David Kellerman, mortgage dealer; John J. O'Connell, of North Fairmount avenue.

Herman Friedman, second mortgage dealer, and reputed financial adviser of Schooley and Michael DeRosa, Jr., recently elected alderman of the Twelfth Ward, also testified.

As to hearing Samuel J. Grenet, state legislator and chairman of the Twenty-seventh Ward, who is under subpena, Prosecutor Park could not say if he would keep the grand jury together until Grenet can come from Harrisburg to testify. Park said he could get along without him.

tractor now in receivers' hands, of which Friedman was secretary.

These three debtors were mentioned Saturday in a letter of a stockholder's committee, headed by John D. Houston. It was Houston, whose activities led to the recent inquiry into conduct of the city Department of Supplies, resulting in indictment of Mayor Charles H. Kline and Supplies Director Bertram I. Surcop.

The stockholders' letter said:

LINKED IN PROBE

This is the second time in 1931 that the Agricultural Exchange has received public notice in political or semi-political investigations. The first was when, in the supplies investigation, it was revealed that the firm had a virtual monopoly on the city's orders of green goods from August, 1930 until January, 1931.

The purchases, in small lots under the $500 minimum amount requiring competitive bids, amounted to $4,662.72, for Mayview Hospital, Municipal Hospital, Leech Farm and Highland Park Zoo.

Purchases were shown to have been made by the city's supplies department and inspectors from the office of City Controller James P. Kerr. It was Kerr who conducted the audit into affairs of Schooley's office, given to the grand jury this week, following closing of the Franklin Bank and discovery of questionable transactions involving the treasury and that institution.

AGRICULTURE INSPECTOR'S BROTHER

President of the Exchange is Louis B. Sable, brother of Charles R. Sable, inspector in Kerr's office.

The firm is indebted to the bank for approximately $54,000, which it drew from its account following deposit of drafts for collection from produce firms in other cities, but before the drafts had been collected. Drafts were subsequently returned marked "paid direct" or "payment refused, price excessive."

In most instances investigation has disclosed, the bills were paid direct to the Exchange, either after adjusting the amount or before the drafts were presented.

According to records of the bank, the rejected drafts instead of being collected from the Agricultural Exchange, were left in the account of "country collections" or "cash items."

It will be alleged that some one in the name of the Agricultural Exchange thus collected the amount of its sales twice—from the bank when the drafts were deposited, and at the same time direct from the purchasers of goods on whom the drafts had been drawn.

SCAN ACCOUNTS

The Exchange is also indebted to the bank for thousands of dollars in N. S. F. checks, it was learned today.

The placing of approximately $30,000 in N. S. F. checks of the Parrish firm in the bank's "cash items" account is included in the investigation. Friedman is secretary of the Parrish firm, which has received many public construction contracts.

Friedman was mentioned in the recent City Council hearing on garbage disposal contracts as holding $60,000 of $190,000 capital stock in the Modern Service Company, rejected low bidder on the 1931 city garbage contracts. C. A. Bardolph, president of the Franklin bank, was president of the company.

Swope Confident As to '32 Trade

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Confidence in the business prospects of the new year was expressed today by Gerard Swope, The president of the General Electric Company declared:

"We think that conditions in our country in 1932 should be at least as good as 1931. We look forward to 1932 and the succeeding years with confidence."

Must Work Together for Dealings With America, Foreign Leaders Believe

By LINTON WELLS
International News Service.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—Having been definitely assured that the United States would not participate in the European reparations conference, representatives of Great Britain and France got together today and pushed plans for a united stand in the debt situation, keeping an eye on both the United States and Germany.

According to the present plan, diplomats will push a program for a further moratorium through the reparations conference and then present it to the United States for approval in accordance with President Hoover's recent statement asking Europe first to put her house in order and then ask the United States for whatever she needed.

The conference on war debts and reparations will convene January 20, at Lausanne, Switzerland, it was officially announced today.

Let Europe Settle Own Debts, Johnson Warns

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Reports from Europe of the forming of an Anglo-French bloc to insist upon American revision of the war debts was met today by Senator Johnson (Rep.), of California, leader of the anti-moratorium group, with an blunt challenge that the people of the United States were opposed to further debt concessions.

The attitude of the Hoover administration and members of Congress in approving by telegraph the one-year moratorium gave Europe sound cause for believing it could decide American debts, Johnson asserted, adding:

"I haven't the slightest objection to Europe getting together on European debts. Let Europe settle her inter-governmental debts just as she sees fit. But I don't want Europe to settle our debts."

$600,000,000 Oil Merger Now Likely

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Formation of a $600,000,000 independent oil company by a merger of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation and the Prairie Oil and Gas Corporation was in sight today.

While no definite confirmation of an impending merger could be obtained at the Sinclair offices here, it was said that a statement on the subject would be issued within a week.

COUNCILMAN ROBERT GARLAND ARRIVING AT GRAND JURY

Mr. Garland as he reported in the anteroom of the grand jury investigating Schooley affairs. "I have no idea," said Mr. Garland, "why they called me." He had been subpenaed to appear today.

BOMB IN MAIL KILLS CLERK

said they saw the youths addressing the packages in the postoffice lobby shortly before the explosion.

The entire postoffice was thrown into confusion. All work was suspended as explosive experts and state, county and city police began an investigation.

The Rev. P. T. Stengele, pastor of Mennonite Brethren in Christ Church, was in the lobby addressing some mail and saw the two young men at work. He said they had left the building only five minutes when the explosion shook the place.

CLERKS SUSPICIOUS

Werkheiser was able to give police a short statement before he died. He said he and the other clerks were suspicious of the packages and were of the opinion they did not contain the merchandise that was declared, so they began to open one of them.

House had both hands on the package, which was resting on a scale, when it exploded. The steel scale was twisted like wire and was thrown about 10 feet, carrying with it parts of House's hands.

Werkheiser was standing beside House and he apparently had one of his hands on the scale. Albert was standing at a window about five feet distant. Keller, who was standing in the rear of the cage, about 20 feet away, was thrown to the floor.

House said Werkheiser apparently had been having some argument with the two men as to the value they had placed on the packages. Werkheiser disputed the amount they said the packages were worth and also was suspicious as to the contents. House said:

"After the men left, Werkheiser said to me, 'I'm going to open these packages and see just what is in this thing.' He took off the paper wrapping and started to pry off the lid of a wooden box about 10 inches long, five inches wide and five inches deep, and that's all I know.

"I had no part in the unwrapping of the package, but I was standing right near Werkheiser when he started to pry off the lid."

TELLS OF ARGUMENT

Albert also recalled that Werkheiser was having some argument about the unusual value placed on the merchandise. He also said he remembers the two men told Werkheiser each package contained different materials.

The other packages were addressed to the following persons:

Mr. Comm. Crazzo, 134 East Tenth street; Mr. G. R. Uff Generoso Pope, 551 Fifth avenue; Mr. Iaglee Falbo, 42 Elm street, all in New York; and Nagal Marine, care of the Argentine Consulate, Baltimore, Md.

Easton Hospital authorities who examined the wounds of the injured persons said either TNT, or some other nitroglycerinous compound were in the explosives. It was not simple gunpowder, they said.

Several postoffice inspectors at Philadelphia were ordered today by the Postoffice Department at Washington to the Easton postoffice to investigate. Thomas M. Milligan, chief postal inspector, gave orders at the request of Representative Coyle, of Bethlehem.

FASCIST EDITOR TARGET

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Generoso Pope and Igaloe Falbo, to whom were addressed parcels containing one of the bombs which exploded in the Easton, Pa., postoffice, killing one clerk and injuring four others, are respectively the publisher and editor-in-chief of the Fascist Italian newspaper Il Progresso.

MILLS ASSAILS DEMOCRATS' TAX PLANS

Policy of 'Soaking Rich' Won't Work, He Says; Raps 'Borrowing' Idea

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The administration has assailed the embryonic tax proposals of congressional Democrats with charges that they are "wholly inadequate to meet the fiscal situation" of the federal government.

Under-Secretary Mills, of the Treasury, made the criticism of a program outlined by Representative Rainey, of Illinois, the Democratic House leader, which advocated heavy surtax levies on the wealthy.

In a statement last night, Mills said there was "little profit in 'soaking the rich' because the large incomes are no longer there."

PROGRAM INCOMPLETE

The program suggested by Rainey has not met with the general approval of other Democratic leaders. Advised of Mills' criticism of the Rainey program, Speaker Garner said:

"Nobody has been authorized to speak for the Democratic party on a tax program, and nobody has. There is no complete program yet."

The Democrats, however, are in accord on the idea of imposing taxes on those best able to pay them. In addition, they expect to bring about $200,000,000 into the Treasury by stopping loopholes in the existing law.

SURTAX MAXIMUM

Rainey advocated repeal of the capital stock gains and losses provision of the present law, levying of a maximum surtax of 60 per cent, and making new taxes effective on the current year's incomes. He opposed the lowering of exemptions on small incomes.

Mills said the program was inadequate to meet the prospective $2,000,000,000 Treasury deficit.

A 60 per cent surtax would collect only an additional $120,000,000, he said, adding:

"The number of incomes of $100,000 and over fell from about 16,000 in 1928 to 6,200 in 1930. There will unquestionably be a further substantial reduction in the calendar year 1932."

He charged the Democrats proposed to operate the government on borrowed money.

JUDGE WALLING FOUND DEAD

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Justice Emory A. Walling, of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, died at his home here during the night. He was 77 years old.

Justice Walling was found dead in his bed this morning. He was slightly ill yesterday, but his condition was not regarded serious.

He became a justice of the State Supreme Court January 3, 1911. He served as judge on the Erie County bench from 1897 until he was seated on the higher bench.

Lone Sailor Ending 'Round World Trip

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Edward Miles, Memphis carpenter who is sailing around the world in a vessel of his own construction, started yesterday for New York via the Panama Canal on the final stretch of his tour. Miles arrived here several weeks ago from the Orient in his auxiliary sailing schooner, Sturdy I'.

Two Society Debs Guarded After Threats of Death

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Receipt of letters threatening death or permanent injury to their debutante daughters was reported to police yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vaux, of Ambler. The Vaux home has been guarded by detectives since the girls were involved in an attempted holdup several weeks ago.

The letters Mrs. Vaux said, demanded several thousand dollars be left in a specified office in Philadelphia. The money was left at the office three weeks ago, Mrs. Vaux said, but nobody came for it.

Three holdup men sought to rob Mary Gwynn Vaux, her sister, Ruth, and cousin, Emily N. Ingersoll, as they returned from a dance late in September. The attempt failed when Stanley Monash, 29, chauffeur of the Vaux automobile, refused to halt and Miss Ingersoll kicked one of the gunmen in the face as he leaped to the car.

Several shots were fired as the car sped away, one of them striking Monash in the arm.

The letters were received shortly after Mrs. Vaux said and since then her daughters had been guarded, while a trap was laid for the writers of the unsigned letters.

Coxey Plans 'Barter' Bonds To Speed Town's Trade

CLEVELAND, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Gray-haired Jacob S. Coxey, veteran exponent of "money at cost," will try to put his theory into practice as soon as he can after he takes office Friday as Mayor of Massillon.

Coxey, who became "general" when he led his famous army of unemployed to Washington 37 years ago, came here yesterday on a business trip and explained his plans for thawing out frozen credits in his home city.

Before long, he will ask the Massillon City Council to approve his plan to issue $200,000 in bonds on the city—50,000 in $1 denominations, 10,000 at $5 and 10,000 at $10. They would bear interest of one-tenth of 1 per cent annually and be retired by taxation over a 25-year period.

Then the voters of Massillon will have to give their approval. If this happens, and Coxey said he felt it would, the bonds will be used as a medium of local exchange, providing Massillon business men will co-operate with him and accept the bonds.

BABY 'KIDNAPING' REVEALS HOAX WIFE PLAYED ON MATE

BORROWED HEIR WITH CONSENT OF MOTHER

'Stolen' Child Returned After 24 Hours, but Not To Stay; Musician Mourns

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Up at the North Pole cabaret on the North Side on a sultry night last August, Clarence Piper, of the Hotsy Totsy band, raised his trumpet and played "Yes sir, That's My Baby."

Mr. Piper was happy. He had known, so he thought, since early in the spring that his wife was going to present him with an heir, and he had just got the news. It was a son.

Daily his paternal pride grew. He invited the neighbors in and pointed out to them his own features, emerging, he fancied, in the baby's face. On one occasion he proposed to take the child to the cabaret to show him to the "boys," but Mrs. Piper frowned on the idea.

FINDS CRIB EMPTY

Nevertheless his bliss reigned until December 23. When he arrived at his home in Hobart, Ind., he was horrified. The crib was empty. His wife lay on a bed, apparently in a swoon. She said, when awakened:

"I was listening to the radio. From behind a chair someone flung a rag over my face. I can remember nothing more."

Mr. Piper called the police, but the child's disappearance remained a mystery for 24 hours. Mrs. Piper meanwhile persuaded her husband to go back to work. He did. Shortly afterward Mrs. Piper, accompanied by Patrolman Frank Traeger, of Hobart, also departed for Chicago. When Piper returned in the morning the baby was back in his crib. Said Patrolman Traeger:

"My little Christmas present. I can't tell you how it was done. We detectives have our professional secrets, you know."

JOY SHORT LIVED

Mr. Piper was overjoyed, but not for long. Last Monday the superintendent of the Gary (Ind.) hospital, where the child was born, and the infant's mother arrived and the baby was taken away. It was then that Mr. Piper learned the truth, namely that his wife had merely borrowed the son and heir with the knowledge and consent of the baby's unmarried mother.

Last night there were those who heard noises coming from the Piper cottage. It was Mr. Piper playing "Sweet and Low"—plaintively.

Ousted Chief, Friend Found Dead in Auto

BEATRICE, Neb., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Harry Whiteside, suspended Beatrice fire chief, and his friend, John Marten, also of Beatrice, were found dead today in an automobile parked on a country road.

No wounds appeared on their bodies and an autopsy on Whiteside failed to reveal the cause of his death. Whiteside, chief of the fire department many years, would have faced a District Court jury January 4 on the charge of being implicated in a robbery.

Hawaiian Volcano Activity Slackens

HILO, Hawaii, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The Kilauea volcano greatly slackened its activity yesterday after dozens of fountains had tossed flaming lava within its huge fire pit since Wednesday. The southwest fountain continued to hurl molten rock 50 to 75 feet, but all others had ceased spouting.

Kipling Felicitated On 66th Birthday

BURWASH, Sussex, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Rudyard Kipling was 66 today. He spent the day quietly at his rural retreat, "Batemans," near here. Almost the only intruders on his privacy were messengers who brought many congratulatory messages from all parts of the world.

British Banker's Son To Wed Illinois Girl

LONDON, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—The engagement of Dr. Trevor Stamp, a director of the Bank of England and once of Britain's leading financiers and industrialists, to Miss Frances D. Bosworth, of Evanston, Ill., was announced today. The wedding will be in April.

GIRL SAVES RING IN HOLDUP

A sapphire ring, a Christmas present, continues to adorn the hand of Miss Ermelinda DeMita, of Haslage street, today, the pretty nurse having hidden it in her mouth while gunmen held up the dental offices of Dr. Barnett Wilstein, 1310 Fifth avenue, last night. She explained:

"I just couldn't let them take my ring. It has a sentimental value, you know. I didn't know what to do with it or where to hide it, so I just put it in my mouth."

Upon completion of a dental examination Dr. Wilstein had given one of the bandits, the "patient" and his accomplice drew guns, retrieved the dollar given the dentist for the examination and stole about $100 additional.

They also robbed the dentist's brother, Morris Wilstein, a patient, Louis Cozier, and Miss DeMita. The male victims were tied.

Welfare Director Named By Moore

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Mayor-elect J. Hampton Moore has completed his cabinet by appointing Clinton Rogers Woodruff, secretary of the National Municipal League, to the one remaining unfilled post—that of the Department of Public Welfare. Woodruff, who is 63 years old, is a native of Philadelphia and a lawyer.

Vatican Signs Pact With Tiny Republic

Vatican City and San Marino, located on the northwest coast of the Adriatic, agreed that their moneys would have equal validity in each other's territory. The agreement is similar to the Italo-Vatican monetary treaties.

Hit-Run Auto Death Suspect Arrested

RIDGWAY, Pa., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Thomas Myers, 41, of Ridgway, was killed yesterday when his truck was struck by a motorist who fled. Later, E. J. Vanalstyne, of Wilcox, was arrested at Dubois and charged with involuntary manslaughter and failing to stop and render assistance.

Ill Boy Who Offered Dog For Medicine Gets Aid

Eugene Brady, 8, isn't going to be forced to sell "Teddy Bear," his 2-year-old Chow dog, in order to get medicine.

Sick five of his eight years, Eugene tossed upon his bed at his home in Lincoln Place and fought the greatest battle of his young life. At last he decided he'd have to sell "Teddy Bear." It hurt, but he needed medicine, and father was out of work. Many persons, hearing of the plight of the youngster, offered aid. First was Thomas Goslin, who forwarded a check to Jean. When it was delivered at the Brady home, Jean was sleeping, clasping several Christmas cards in his hands, received from schoolmates.

A number of druggists have offered to furnish medicine free.

Herbert Venzer, 9, of 1337 Beechview avenue, who made $2 last week selling magazines, was making arrangements today to find a way of helping Jean keep his dog. He said:

"I got a dog and I know how I'd feel if I had to sell him. Jean mustn't have to sell 'Teddy Bear.'"

3 CORAOPOLIS BANKS JOIN INTERESTS

Trust and Savings and Trust Companies Combine, Get Stock in National

Merging of the Ohio Valley Trust Company, established in 1901, with the Coraopolis Savings and Trust Company, established in 1903, into an institution to be known as the Coraopolis Savings and Trust Company was one phase of the reorganization. The other was a stock trading deal through which the new trust company obtains control of the Coraopolis National Bank, a depository for residents of that borough since 1897.

The Coraopolis National will continue, for the present at least, under its present officers, but will move to the quarters formerly occupied by Coraopolis Savings and Trust.

The new Coraopolis Trust Company will function in the building now used by the Ohio Valley Trust. Its officers will include Charles L. McCune, recently named "personal banker" to direct liquidation of assets in closed banks here, as chairman of the board and president, and J. F. Ferguson as first vice president and chairman of the executive committee.

The stock exchange deal through which control of the Coraopolis National was obtained is to be submitted to stockholders of the newly formed trust company at a meeting January 12.

2 HELD IN RAID ON LOTUS CLUB

Two men were held for Federal Court today under $2,000 bond each as a result of a prohibition raid last night on the Lotus Club, 2310 Sidney street, famous meeting place of South Side politicians for many years.

The men are Harry Lochbaum, the club steward, of 802 Delmont street, and Arthur Phillips, alleged bartender, of 813 Locust street.

Dry agents testified before a United States commissioner today that they had seized a large supply of choice liquor and beer in the raid.

Long before prohibition, politicians met in the high-ceilinged rooms of the unpretentious club to outline political campaigns and to be merry. The club was equally famous for its kitchen.

The raid was orderly. Agents say they permitted the score of visitors found in the place to depart unmolested.

KAISER BARRED FROM SISTER

THE HAGUE, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—The former Kaiser Wilhelm II, of Germany, today had to be content with mere reports of the condition of his sister, former Queen Sophie of Greece, who is ill in Germany as the result of an operation.

The Kaiser, living in exile at Doorn, was refused permission by German authorities to go to the land of which he once was ruler, his sister's illness notwithstanding. He had wished to visit her, but gave up his attempts when he received an informal refusal.

DREAM SLAYER GETS LIFE

KINGWOOD, W. Va., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Mrs. Evelyn Harader, 45, so-called "dream slayer" of Ceril F. Michael, Clifton Hills Postmaster, was sentenced yesterday to life imprisonment.

The woman, who said she was prompted by "messages" she received in dreams and from birds, trees and electric wires, showed no emotion as she listened to the sentence.

She was convicted of first-degree murder the night of December 19.

U. S. WATCHING FINLAND'S DRY REPEAL VOTE

Heavy Balloting Continues Despite Blizzards; Result Held Vital to America

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Finland began the second day of its two-day prohibition referendum today with a heavier vote cast than is usually polled on the first day of regular national elections, despite extremely severe winter blizzards.

Complete figures for the first day's poll in the capital showed that 36.4 per cent of the voters registered their preference yesterday, as compared with 33.7 per cent on the first day of the last presidential election.

In some "silk stocking" districts in Helsingfors the poll was as high as 48.9 per cent. In working class districts fewer votes were cast, the percentage dropping as low as 18.

Percentages reported from other points ranged from 25 to 43.

The count will not begin before midnight tonight. No ballots are tabulated in the precincts in which they are cast, but are sent sealed to the central office here where a staff will work in three shifts, day and night, even on New Year's Day, to finish the tallying.

Both sides, in newspaper argument yesterday, made much of the fact that several American newspaper correspondents have come here for the election. The prohibitionists said an adverse vote might affect prohibition in the United States.

The "antis," however, suggested that the presence of the Americans showed the United States has discovered that prohibition resulted in corruption, and hopes Finland may point a way out.

SENATE TO HOLD BEER HEARING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The first of the Senate committee hearings on prohibition was set today for Friday, January 8.

The date was decided upon by Chairman Metcalf (Rep.), of Rhode Island, of a manufacturers sub-committee to hear testimony on a 4 per cent beer bill by Senator Bingham (Rep.), of Connecticut. He notified his office by telephone from Providence, where he is spending the holidays.

Both friends and foes of prohibition will be heard.

Senator Bingham said Prof. Yandell Henderson, of Yale, an expert on volatile poisons, had agreed to appear in favor of the bill on the morning of January 8, and Representative William E. Hull, of Peoria, Ill., on Saturday, also in favor of it.

Care will be taken to allot equal amounts of time to both sides. Committee officials are looking for an extra spacious chamber in which to hold the hearings, expecting a large attendance.

Lucy Doraine Sues Surgeon for Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Charging desertion, Mrs. Helena Riethmuller, Hungarian actress known to the stage and screen as Lucy Doraine, filed suit for divorce here yesterday from Dr. Richard H. Riethmuller, surgeon and author.

They were married in 1928 and Miss Doraine charges her husband left her in October, 1930. She formerly was married to Michael Curtiz, film director.

HOLDUP OF BANK FOILED, 3 HELD

CLAY, W. Va., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—A passerby who fired at four men in the Bank of Widen, at Widen, frustrated a robbery today.

The shots awakened the town and a posse was organized to pursue the robbers, who fled from the bank without replying to the shots.

Three of the alleged robbers were captured while running down the railroad tracks near Clay while a fourth fought off officers who surrounded him on a bluff near Hartland.

The youths arrested were John Johnson, who said his home was in Hopkinsville, Ky.; Lawson Amos, and a man named Bright. All were held in the Clay County jail awaiting transfer to the Kanawha County jail at Charleston for safekeeping.

Meanwhile officers endeavored to capture the fourth man who hid behind boulders on a mountain side firing when they endeavored to close in upon him.

SHOT IN HEART, BULLET SAVES BOY'S LIFE

Missile Follows Blood Stream Through Arteries, Finally Lodging in Groin

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Shot in the heart, a boy here was saved when the blood pushed the bullet into an artery.

The bullet finally lodged in the boy's groin, where surgeons said today it will be permitted to remain for the time being.

The boy, Harry Besharre, was shot by a playmate Saturday. He was reported in good condition.

Once inside the heart, the bullet passed into the left ventricle, then was forced up the aorta (largest artery of the body), through another large artery leading through chest and abdomen and into the left iliac artery, which carries blood to the left leg. The missile now is in the femoral artery.

Doctors said had the bullet failed to round the arch of the aorta at the base of the neck, it would have gone through the carotid artery leading to the head, and, on reaching the base of the brain, would have caused death.

The physicians hope the bullet will work further down in the femoral artery to a point in the left leg where it can be removed without danger.

NARROW SEARCH FOR FLIER

ELKINS, W. Va., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The search for Lieut. E. H. Bobbitt, Jr., missing aviator, was limited today to a rough and heavily wooded section of approximately 100 square miles.

It has been five days since Bobbitt disappeared while flying from Selfridge Field, Mich., to Hot Springs, Va.

Hundreds of searchers have tramped the hillsides while aviators have peered down on the woods from aloft over most of the mountains from Uniontown, Pa., to Hot Springs. Only the small tract of rugged land, between Elkins and Hot Springs, remains to be searched.

Capt. E. C. Whitehead, in charge of Army planes sent from Selfridge Field for the search, believes Bobbitt's body and plane will be found in 100-square-mile plot.

Mrs. Duncan Renaldo Loses Divorce Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The Supreme Court yesterday dismissed the appeal of Mrs. Suzette Renaldo from the divorce decree granted her husband, Duncan Renaldo, motion picture actor, more than a year ago. The action was requested by attorneys for both parties, who gave no reasons.

Mrs. Renaldo filed her appeal in October, 1930, but the action was never heard. An affidavit charged Edwina Booth, the feminine lead of "Trader Horn," with intimacy with Renaldo while both were on location in Africa.

Flier Escapes Crash, Onlooker Loses Arm

BERLIN, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—J. A. Mollinson, well-known British flier, escaped unhurt in an emergency landing today. His plane was wrecked and the arm of a merchant hurrying to the scene as a rescuer was cut off by the whirling propellor.

Rum and Money Features In Langdon Alimony Suit

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Eccentricities of Harry Langdon, film comedian, calling liquor "woof-woof" and pinning $1,000 bills under hotel chairs were described in court today at a hearing on a separation action brought by Mrs. Helen Walton Langdon, who has also acted in the movies.

The session ended when counsel for Langdon announced the application would not be contested. Justice Joseph Merschauser directed formal proof of abandonment to be submitted tomorrow and said argument on the amount of alimony to be allowed would be heard at that time.

W. D. Cunningham, counsel for Mrs. Langdon, told of the comedian's code name for liquor, introducing a telegram from Langdon, in Providence, R. I., to his wife in Hollywood, reading:

"Get supply from Fishbaugh, including woof-woof."

He said Langdon used to carry 10 $1,000 bills with him and when he took a hotel room he would pin each bill separately under a chair to prevent theft.

Langdon's lawyer said he had recently entered a petition in bankruptcy, claiming debts of $32,000 plus $03,000 he owed for income tax. Cunningham charged it was a "dishonest bankruptcy."

Though the separation is asked for abandonment, counsel for the wife also told of alleged assault upon her by her husband, who would then, he said, burst into tears and beg forgiveness.

Prize Fight Death Held Accidental By U. S. Court

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30 (AP) [illegible] the United States Circuit Court of Appeals has upheld a verdict of [illegible] Federal Court at Pittsburgh and ordered the New York Life Insurance company to pay [illegible] Mrs. Helena C. Gustafson of McKean County, Pa.

Mrs. Gustafson is the mother of Evan E. Gustafson, 22, who died of a broken neck January 13, 1930, after being hit by an opponent in a ring contest at Allegheny, N. Y. Mrs. Gustafson carried a $2,000 insurance policy on the life of her son which had a double indemnity clause for accidental death. The company evidence showed [illegible] paid $2,000 but refused to pay double indemnity on the grounds the death was not accidental.

The Circuit Court of Appeals held boxing is a lawful employment and that deaths as the result of bouts are accidental.

Pinchot Would Smoke Cigaret If Taxed

HARRISBURG, Dec. 30 (AP) Gov. Pinchot would smoke a cigaret if there were a tax on it, Mrs. Pinchot said today.

When a committee called on the Governor in his office to notify him the Senate was ready to adjourn, Senator T. S. Krause, Philadelphia, offered him a cigaret and at the same time asked Mrs. Pinchot:

"Do you think he will smoke this?"

She replied:

"Yes, if there were a tax on it."

The Legislature had refused to adopt a recommendation by the Governor that cigarets be taxed to help unemployment relief.

BABY HEIRESS IN COURT ROW

CHICAGO, Dec. 30 (AP) A court battle over their 2-year-old daughter, Myrtle, who some day may inherit millions, was started yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin I. Saemann, Jr., a socially prominent Chicago couple.

Saemann filed a suite for divorce charging desertion and asking that he be allowed to visit the child at any time and custody during two months every year. Saemann is 23 and his wife a year younger.

Mrs. Saemann is the granddaughter of Dr. Peter Fahrney, founder of a patent medicine company bearing his name. She inherited several million dollars from him and had a larger inheritance from the $6,000,000 estate of an uncle, Ezra Fahrney.

Attorneys for Saemann charged in entering the suit that the wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Fahrney, were responsible for trouble between the couple, and had prevented Saemann from seeing his wife and daughter.

JAPAN'S ARMY SWEEPING ON CHINCHOW

An understanding is expected to be reached shortly, whereby Japan formally reaffirms nominal Chinese sovereignity in Manchuria, while China renews her pledge to recognize disputed Japanese treaty rights.

Northern Chinese officials were distressed over the appointment of Eugene Chen, a Cantonese, as foreign minister, declaring that the British authorities were equally disappointed over the course of political events. The northern authorities claim there is a "decided Communistic streak" in the new Nanking government, in addition to its avowed pro-Japanese intentions.

Any hopes that Chang's action in ordering withdrawal of Chinchow troops within the Great Wall would result in immediate abandonment of the Japanese offensive were dashed when, in the next 12 hours, the swiftly-moving Japanese troops advanced toward Chinchow from three directions.

CHINESE FLEE

Train after train steamed out of Chinchow during the day, carrying Chinese troops to Shannaikwan, within the Great Wall, and leaving Manchuria almost entirely in the hands of the Japanese.

Marshal Chang ordered the evacuation in an effort to remove the threat of a Japanese invasion of North China proper, particularly Tientsin and Peiping. A total of 24,000 men were to be taken within the Great Wall, leaving only a garrison force of 6,000 troops at Chinchow.

Japanese military authorities had stated time and again that the offensive in the Chinchow region was due to the presence of Chinese troops in and near Chinchow, whom they held responsible for subsidizing the bandit gangs which have been terrorizing the area.

That Japan, however, does not intend to call off the offensive despite the withdrawal was indicated when a new brigade set out from Faku, northwest of Mukden, advanced to the Tahushan-Tunghiao branch of the P. M. R. and captured Changwu in the course of its march on Koupangtze.

Japan Dispatches Warships, Marines

DAIREN, Kwang Tung Peninsula, Dec. 30.—An undetermined number of Japanese warships, carrying Marines and fighting supplies, left Port Arthur today, presumably bound for Tientsin.

The ships were ordered out as a result of the Chinchow situation, it was indicated. Strict secrecy surrounded the move.

Japanese Conquest Upsets Stimson Policy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Secretary of State Stimson today began picking up the pieces of his Manchurian policy, shattered by the Japanese military conquest of that country, and to fit them together to form a picture of dignity in defeat.

The last piece of the State Department's bric-a-brac was knocked from the wall by the Chinese capitulation to the Japanese forces in the Chinchow area, moving all Chinese troops within the Great Wall and leaving the Japanese army free to occupy the city without further resistance. The blow was not unexpected by the State Department.

Although the Japanese government had informed Stimson on Saturday in positive language it intended to sweep all remnants of the Chinese army out of Manchuria, the sudden abandonment of Chinchow created a painful impression in the State Department.

"What next?" was the question which United States officials asked. None appeared prepared to answer.

It was apparent that completion of Japan's military occupation of all Manchuria found Stimson and his advisers undecided as to future action or policy. The old policy of exchanging diplomatic notes and other representations, expressing this government's "concern" over Japanese action in Manchuria has proved ineffectual.

SCORES KILLED IN STORMS

LONDON, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—The fiercest weather of the winter descended upon Europe today, 93 blasts taking nearly a score of lives on land, while raging seas were believed to have reaped a toll of at least a score more.

The storms raged from the usually sunny South of Europe, where many meagerly-clothed homeless succumbed to extraordinary freezing weather, to the Far North, as gales spent most of their fury upon the seas, crippling shipping and wrecking small craft.

In the vicinity of Lisbon, Portugal, 15 homeless were found dead in the streets. Similar deaths were reported in Southern France and Spain.

The North Sea was believed to have swallowed the Esthonian steamer Liro, with three women passengers and a crew of 17. A fishing craft was wrecked off Helsingfors, Finland, and 25 persons aboard, including one woman, narrowly escaped death.

Australia Swelters In 122-Degree Heat

ADELAIDE, Australia, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Half-hour reliefs for traffic policemen were instituted here today to protect them from a terrific 122-degree heat which beat down upon the city's streets.

Thermometers registered 114 degrees in the shade as all South Australia suffered the hottest period in 70 years. Firemen played hose streams upon gasoline stations continually to prevent explosion and fire.

Ortiz Rubio Upholds Law Curbing Clergy

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—President Ortiz Rubio has approved the clergy restriction law passed last week by the Senate and Chamber of Deputies, and it is effective today on publication in the Diario Oficial.

The law limits the Catholic Church to 25 priests in Mexico City.

Man and Son Held As Theft Suspects

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 30.—State police today are holding Arthur Chaney, 46, and his son, Kenneth, 22, of Blairsville, and Robert Bergman, 36, of Campbell's Mills, on charges of robbing the Blairsville Grocery Company's warehouse of $3,000 worth of merchandise on Sunday.

CARRIES BABY TO RUM TRIAL

Appearing before Magistrate Thomas Jones in Morals Court with a baby in her arms, Mrs. Sophia Shawlo, 38, of 54 South Eighteenth street, today admitted selling moonshine and was held for court.

Held with her was John Zuko, 45, of the same address. Mathew Farmer, 33, of 1714 Wharton street, testified he bought a half pint of moonshine from Mrs. Shawlo and another from the man, for 25 cents each.

Lieut. David Walsh testified that he had received numerous complaints about the South Eighteenth street home, and that on Christmas night Patrick Madine was found dead outside the place. Walsh said his investigation led him to believe that Madine had been drinking in the place Christmas day.

Mrs. Shawlo said she was unable to get bail and had to spend the night in jail with her baby, Adam, 3. Police said they tried to prevent her from bringing the youngster with her, but that she insisted, and they had to take both mother and son. A second son was left with neighbors.

Ayres Demands U. S. Act to Aid Business

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Company, called upon Congress today to enact emergency measures to stop deflation and encourage business recovery.

The widely-known economist told the American Statistical Association that the present difficulty "is following in many respects the pattern of those of the forties and seventies, which were the longest and most severe in our history."

LENZ GAINS 520 WITH JOVIAL NEW AIDE

Success Despite Doubles Aids Team; Culbertson Blames Freak Distribution

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Thanks to the help of a jovial, conservative new partner Sidney S. Lenz was 520 points nearer Ely Culbertson today in the prolonged test of contract bridge systems.

With Commander Winfield Liggett, Jr., U. S. N. retired, opposite him in place of Oswald Jacoby, resigned, Lenz won five of nine rubbers at the fifteenth session, ending this morning, and cut the Culbertson plus to 16,320.

There are 38 more rubbers in the series. Culbertson's side has accumulated 98,850 points as against 82,530, and has won 63 rubbers against 49. Play will be resumed tonight.

Three doubles were factors in the session's swing. Liggett doubled at five clubs, took all the tricks. Doubled at five hearts, he fulfilled his contract. He was not vulnerable either time. Doubled when vulnerable in a contract for four spades, Lenz made five.

ADVANTAGE CUT

The advantage obtained by the doubles was diminished when Mrs. Culbertson succeeded at a little slam vulnerable, giving her a 700 rubber. Liggett could have prevented the slam's success by correct choice of an opening lead. He could have set Mrs. Culbertson once when he doubled her at two diamonds, but failed.

With the departure of Jacoby and his psychic bids and sets to prevent the other side going game, Lenz was in good humor, which he retained even when pointing out errors to Liggett, long a favorite partner of his. Lenz and Liggett were set only three times for minor losses.

FREAK DISTRIBUTION

Culbertson blamed the decrease of his plus on freak distribution. For instance, when Liggett took 13 tricks on a contract for five clubs doubled, Lenz had no spades and Liggett had no diamonds.

Culbertson remained confident about the outcome of the 150-rubber match, pointing out that the rate of gain for Lenz' side in the last two sessions would leave it far behind at the end of the match.

Presumably Liggett will continue as Lenz' partner to the end, since Jacoby announced he would not return. Mrs. Culbertson has at least 10 more rubbers to play, and Culbertson has various other partners in view. One whom he had in mind, Mrs. John A. Warner, daughter of Alfred E. Smith, has found she will be unable to play.

Bandits Steal Truck With $40,000 in Silk

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Three bandits today held up a motor truck carrying $40,000 worth of silk and woolens to Philadelphia, abducted the driver, Patrick Heney, Philadelphia, and drove off with the truck. Heney was found, still bound and blindfolded, on the street by policemen.

Capone Hotel Sued On $231 Judgment

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—The Metropole Hotel, reputedly the former stronghold of the Al Capone gang, yesterday was the target of a foreclosure proceedings instituted by the National Casualty Company. An asserted $231 judgment against the hotel was the basis of the action.

Cleveland to Ring Bell for Prosperity

At noon Saturday, the Civic Board plans to have such a din of bells, horns and whistles set up that any demons of depression lurking around dark corners will be driven to the tall timbers.

Urge New Yorkers To Spend Rum Funds on Poor

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Federal Judge Richard J. Hopkins, of Kansas, who sentenced Jack "Legs" Diamond for a dry law violation, has recommended here that New Yorkers use the "hundreds of thousands of dollars they are illegally spending in law violation" for their poor and idle, instead of begging federal relief. He said:

"I observe that New York still sits upon her ant hill of graft, crime and debauchery, and still complains. It ought to strike home to the mind of every thinking citizen that New York has exactly the kind of government she desires to have. Little Old New York still fosters the impression that law as law need not be taken too seriously."

PARK TO KEEP PRESENT AIDES

District Attorney Andrew T. Park and his present corps of assistants and county detectives will be sworn into office tomorrow, he announced today. This announcement dispelled rumors of a shake-up contemplated in the county detectives or changes in the personnel of the District Attorney's office.

Park said he would be sworn in by Judge H. H. Rowand, who was district attorney when Park first became attached to that office. Park said that his staff is too busy now with the grand jury investigation and impending trials of city officials to play politics even if he wanted to.

LEASE PARKING LOT DOWNTOWN

A five-year lease to become effective January 1 has been made on the vacant lot adjoining the Koppers Building, Grant street, by the Board of Education, owner, it was learned today.

The holders of the new lease, Richard Gazal and Hamb Kail, will use the property for a parking lot. B. B. Epstein, known to many as "Young Eppy," now leases the property from the Board of Education. Epstein, who operates a parking lot at that location, will vacate January 1.

Gazal and Kail, according to the Board of Education, have leased the lot for $15,600 yearly. Epstein paid $8,400 a year rental.

Happy New Year

THE year 1931 has been one of the most trying in American History. Mental and financial depression and physical hardship have marked it on all sides. This store has felt that the need for its Service . . . to supply the wants of everyday life, good substantial merchandise at moderate prices . . . was even greater than in normal times. This need we endeavored to meet. And public response has enabled us to have a satisfactory year, for which we are grateful.

WE look forward to 1932 with optimism. We have planned the expansion and relocation of a number of departments which will make shopping here in the New Year even easier and more comfortable than it has been in the past. And in our merchandising, we will adhere steadfastly to the pledge made to you just four years ago this New Year's when Gimbels came to Pittsburgh.

"THE policy of the New Gimbel Store is to sell sound merchandise of standard grade . . . always fresh and in full assortments . . . to keep stocks complete and well balanced. To 'turn' merchandise rapidly at a low margin of profit . . . for quick turnover is the soul of sound retailing . . . and a fundamental of Gimbel operation. To show only merchandise of refined taste and individuality. To insist that the designers and manufacturers in filling our orders be instructed to make things 'better' rather than 'cheaper'."

WE WISH YOU A HAPPY NEW YEAR

In every [illegible] the lasting level of [illegible] considered a [illegible] Governor will not be deterred by today's vote from [illegible] recommendations [illegible] such [illegible] session, he declared. It is not probable [illegible] will be called [illegible] this [illegible] but will be dependent [illegible] on conditions [illegible] Philadelphia.

Declaring the [illegible] resolutions [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] utilities [illegible] would be [illegible] times is cost.

Representative Talbot of Delaware [illegible] that the Governor has [illegible] appropriation for the Public Service Commission, [illegible] which might be [illegible] emergency.

Representative Chester Rhodes (Dem., Mercer) contended that mandates of the Pennsylvania were [illegible] high utility rates. Rhodes was a member of the House [illegible] investigation committee [illegible] session of the Legislature.

ISSUE DEBATED

More than an hour of debate marked [illegible] of the resolutions and the question of a new special session was injected by Representative Robert Klecker of Lehigh. He said:

"We hear the Governor is trying to revive the utility issue as part of the program for another special session. I am not in favor of this resolution or a special session to satisfy any political purposes.

In the view of the resolutions the House would be supported the Governor in every step of the utility fight last session, showed only a scattering vote for adoption. Allegheny County being the only large delegation to vote for the measure.

Representative Charles Saunderson of Schuylkill, sponsor of the most controversial of the Pinchot utility bills last winter, spoke against the resolutions. He declared any investigation would deter utilities from expansion programs such as that just announced by the Bell Telephone Company.

The utility question, unemployment and the deplorable state of finances in Philadelphia may operate to bring about another special session naturally with the first demand coming from Philadelphia. Finances there are in a deplorable tangle and relief measures passed at this session will not meet the needs of the municipality. If the plight of Philadelphia becomes as bad as that of Chicago which is easily possible then the Legislature may be asked to give relief, the same request made in Illinois by Chicago.

PRIMARY IN VIEW

With that demand as a nucleus the Governor could widen the scope of a call to include utility matters which he would like to dramatize as an issue on the eve of the April primary when legislative candidates, a United States Senator, Auditor General, State Treasurer and national delegates are to be chosen.

Into the call also would be drawn a possible bond issue for state finances. The state is facing a deficit of at least $20,000,000 for the current biennium if the Talbot bill appropriating $10,000,000 for direct relief is approved by the courts. Future deficits are in prospect as state revenue trails a depression.

If a special session next year should approve a bond issue, the measure could be passed again at the regular session of 1933 and then could be voted on by the people in the November election of that year. If this procedure is not followed, no relief through a bond issue can be afforded before 1938.

SLASHES UNLIKELY

An alternative to a bond issue is a stringent cut in state expenses but the last regular session made the appropriations which will bring the deficit. The special session has added to the probability and has refused to order a cut in salaries of state employes. Under these circumstances a bond issue seems the

Rate Cut Advocates See Pinchot Backing

Confident of obtaining Gov. Pinchot's support, scores of Western Pennsylvania organizations today were engaged in a strenuous campaign against existing public utility legislation and Public Service Commission practices.

At a meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Fair Rate Association last night plans were made to ask every candidate seeking election to the Legislature in 1932 to pledge support for rate reform measures.

President A. B. Davidson of Talentum revealed that Gov. Pinchot had called a meeting of utility rate reform leaders to convene in Harrisburg January 14.

PINCHOT URGES 'COURAGE'

HARRISBURG, Dec. 30. (AP.)—Pinchot, in a New Year message, urges Pennsylvanians to attack with new strength, new courage, new confidence and new faith the tasks ahead. He said:

"Above all, may that faith be not a blind and desperate one which hopes for miracles, but a brave determination that man does not need miracles to help him, when he gets his full energy to work on the problems that confront him.

"If only you will refuse to be defeated, nothing can stop you. This is my message to you for 1932. First of all, have faith in yourselves, and after that trust in the Lord and keep your powder dry."

LEGISLATURE ENDS SPECIAL SESSION

Pinchot Program Wrecked, Amount of Money for Aid To Jobless Left in Doubt

HARRISBURG, Dec. 30. (AP.)—The extraordinary session of the Pennsylvania Legislature, convened November 9 to consider unemployment relief, adjourned sine die today at 12:14 p. m. Clocks in the legislative halls had been turned back to make adjournment official at noon.

Thus through the wreckage of the Pinchot $120,000,000 unemployment relief program and attempts charged with claim and counter claims of playing politics, the General Assembly came to the end of its seven weeks' battle.

The result of legislation, credited or awarding the Governor's action, was a program which was cut eventually as little as $16,503,000 or as much as $18,546,000, just where the final figure falls will depend more upon the decisions of the courts than upon pending supplemental appropriations.

TALBOT BILL

The bulk of the unemployment relief is contained in the Talbot appropriating $10,000,000 to the poor districts of the state. The measure enacted into law over the Governor's veto provides for the distribution of the appropriation on a per capita basis, the money to be allocated by the Department of Labor and Industry and administered by county boards of relief, with subsequent audits by the state auditor general. Allocations based on the unemployment data compiled at least every two months.

The Welfare Department, which must issue the requisitions on the state treasury, has been advised by Attorney General William A. Schnader to withhold payments under the act until the Supreme Court has established its constitutionality. The net result as the special session ends is that the poor districts have no definite knowledge of when, if or in what amount they will receive appropriations under the act.

HOSPITAL FUNDS

Appropriations of $250,000 to state-owned hospitals and $100,000 to the state veteran commission together with $366,553 earmarked for legislators' salaries and expenses of the special session are the only other state moneys assured by the combined action of the assembly and the Governor. An additional $1,150,000 for Pymatuning dam improvements and $518,000 for work at the Torrance State Hospital have been released from unexpended balances of the previous session and made available for "work relief."

The remaining appropriations approved by the Legislature must still run the gubernatorial gauntlet. They include $2,000,000 for state-aided hospitals, $2,000,000 for relief of poor school districts, $300,000 for improvement of the new National Guard reservation, $230,000 for additional legislative expenses, $2,300,000 for a new state finance building and $1,000,000 for a new state tuberculosis sanitarium.

Incidental legislation more certain of receiving the Governor's signature includes measures intended to relieve hard-pressed home owners from dangers of losing their properties through inability to pay taxes. They postpone sheriff's sales of such properties and limit to 6 per cent the total penalty which can be imposed for delay in paying city, borough and township levies.

Says Modern Girls Need No Leap Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP.)—Leap year means nothing to James J. McCormick, chief of the Marriage License Bureau, except just another year with one day added. He said:

"The women folks don't wait for leap year to pop the question any more. Most of them do the proposing nowadays anyway."

Search Continues for Missing Girls

Trace was sought today of two missing Braddock High School girls who disappeared en route home with a group of girl companions late Sunday. The missing girls, Tillie Stukis, 15, of 512 Cherry way, 503 Washington avenue, and Thelma Kovolsky, 15, of 512 Cherry way, Braddock, were returning from a visit in Swissvale when they separated from their companions. They failed to return to their homes.

British Admiralty Opposes Navy Cuts

LONDON, Dec. 30. (INS.)—Faced with orders of Premier MacDonald's cabinet for drastic naval economies, admiralty experts were working today on a plan whereby they could comply without endangering the efficiency of the navy.

The admiralty, regarding the order as false economy, feels that the present naval strength of Great Britain is below the safety limit and is expected to oppose furiously any further reduction at the forthcoming disarmament.

Fumes in Cabin Kill Man; Woman Saved

AVONDALE, Pa., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—A highway patrolman broke into a tourist cabin here yesterday to find Elmer E. Anderson, 40, of Philadelphia, bond salesman, dead, and Mrs. John B. Greenleaf, Wilmington, Del., unconscious from breathing fumes from a small coal stove.

The proprietor of the tourist camp summoned the patrolman after he was unable to arouse the couple. Mrs. Greenleaf was taken to a hospital.

Unemployed Warned Of 'Job Racketeers'

Urging persons seeking employment to investigate prospective employers who offer jobs requiring a cash bond, G. H. Dennison, manager of the Pittsburgh Better Business Bureau, today issued a warning against 'job racketeers.' Dennison, pointing out three cases within the last four months in Pittsburgh which resulted in two convictions with the third racketeer fleeing the city, declared that if bonds are required, they can be posted through surety companies.

Herrick Memorial Paris Site Selected

PARIS, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Myron T. Herrick, the late Ambassador to France, will have a monument in Paris close to the American Embassy.

The Municipal Council has decided to erect a memorial on the Place des Etats-Unis, in the west part of Paris, near the Arch of Triumph. The sculpture probably will be a bust and will stand near the Washington, Lafayette and American Volunteers' memorials.

Answer—They have different names in the continuity but we believe they are the same people. Anyway they sound similar.

Studio Lights:

The East-West football game broadcast from MacMillan of Pittsburgh will be described from San Francisco over CBS-WJAS Friday afternoon at 4:45.

Detective stories of Edgar Wallace have been bought for radio presentation by the Eno Crime Club . . . and the first is "Terror Keep" on CBS-WJAS Tuesday night January 5 . . .

The grandfather clock George Washington heard as it boy makes its radio debut New Year's Day at noon over NBC-KDKA.

Amelia Earhart is Grantland Rice's guest on WCAE at 10 o'clock tonight . . .

George Gershwin is to play his "Rhapsody in Blue" as a special feature of the Mobiloil one hour and fifteen minute broadcast over NBC-WCAE at 9:30 tonight . . . M. H. Aylesworth, president of NBC, is to speak.

Rudy Vallee is to have Lois Moran, Pittsburgh movie star, as his guest when she takes the air for the first time Thursday January 7 . . .

The Lucky Strike Dance Schedule for January includes Wayne King on Tuesday the fifth, Ozzie Nelson January 7, Lew Conrad January 9, Jack Denny January 12, and an orchestra from either Rome or Berlin on January 14.

Our synchronization stunt grows daily in its magnitude. NBC officials have added Marion Harris in New York as another part of the broadcast which is to feature Bebe Daniels in Hollywood, Paul Whiteman in Chicago and Marion in New York in a synchronized musical performance which will sound to the listener as though it were being performed all in one studio . . . Watch for it New Year's afternoon at 3 on KDKA.

Katherine Meloy, sister of Father St. Vincent Melloy, is billed to entertain in the Bath Club series over CBS-WJAS on Wednesday, January 13.

"Who Will Be the Next President" is the subject of a nation-wide radio talk to be given by William Randolph Hearst Saturday night at 7:15 Eastern standard time . . . Mr. Hearst, speaking from Los Angeles, is to be heard over the entire facilities of the National Broadcasting Company.

The Loudspeaker

— By — LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—When anything else engages them soothsayers of the studio gaze into their crystal balls, utter solemn words about television.

Now they are saying that television will not come in for general armchair use until its novelty has been exhausted in the theater. Maybe, they're right. Maybe, the theater is too closely identified with the electrical industry to be secondary in the plans of the television wizards.

Theater men are on the watch, anyway. Lee Shubert, particularly, it is said, is studying the possibilities of television in bringing the click back to Broadway box offices. And the wizards are inclined to believe clicking box offices will be one of the first results. One of their fondest predictions is that television will breathe new life into the theater, particularly that portion of it called the road.

* * *

The road, you may recall, passed out of the theater men's calculations at that epochal moment when Massa Jolson swept out of the Hollywood gold fields with a triumphant tear in his voice for sonny boy.

If the catch in the Massa's throat, as recorded on the talking screen, put the padlock on the road's legitimate theaters—and many of Broadway's too, isn't it possible that it might be used to take the padlock off? Anyway, it would be a fitting enterprise were the television tetrarchs to summon the good Massa as the star of their first theater presentation.

* * *

With the theater claiming first attention, the "back to the home" element of the broadcasters will have to wait. Radio broadcasting has been the greatest boon to the home, probably, the world has ever seen, but it will be nothing compared to what television, once it gets out of its peep show stage, will be.

Meanwhile the magnificoes of the microphone, assisted by Rockefeller gold, are getting ready.

DINNER JAN. 1 FOR JOBLESS

Harry Richards, hotel proprietor of Dravosburg, will be host to borough officials, bank directors, members of the Borough School Board and the unemployed of the community in the Amity Presbyterian Church, New Year's Day. A roast pork and ham dinner will be served approximately 600 people prepared by the Ladies' Aid Society of the church.

The invitations mailed yesterday read:

"I cheerfully and earnestly invite you and your wife to attend the dinner to be given at the Amity Presbyterian Church, Dravosburg, New Year's Day, 12 noon, for the unemployed. Come and enjoy dinner. Songs, music and hospitality."

WRIT SILENCES GREEK PRIEST

The Rev. Peter Molchany is restrained from preaching or holding any service in St. John's Greek Catholic Cathedral, Homestead, by a preliminary injunction granted in Common Pleas Court by Judge John P. Egan on petition of Rt. Rev. Basil Takach, of Munhall, bishop of the Greek Catholic diocese of Pittsburgh.

Father Molchany had been assistant pastor at the cathedral since January, 1930, and December 10 last Bishop Takach assigned him to St. George's Church, Aliquippa, to take up his work December 13, the petition said.

The priest refused to comply with the order of transfer and remained at the cathedral, the suit charged. A hearing and final order is listed for Monday before Judge Egan.

BUILDING WAGE TRUCE AGREED

Representatives of building trades unions and contractors have agreed to defer for 30 days any action on the 25 per cent reduction in wages suggested by the Building Trades Employers Association.

The action was taken by a joint committee of the Building Trades council and Employers Association. It was agreed that in the meantime negotiations regarding wage scales will be continued. Joseph H. Duty, president of the Building Trades Council, expressed the hope that the entire wage question can be settled amicably.

Four Assistant Assessors Named

Four assistant assessors have been appointed for Glassport by Judge James H. Gray, in Quarter Sessions Court. They were made necessary by the redistricting of the borough. They are: Second District, Second Ward, James C. Jacobs. Third District, Second Ward, Mary Novak. First District, Third Ward, Margaret Gioshio; Second District, Third Ward, Sarah McClellan.

Sadie J. McCoy was appointed assessor for the Second District of the First Ward, Coraopolis, in place of J. A. McCoy, deceased.

To the Shores of
The Sky Blue Water
The Glamorous
GULF COAST
"The American Riviera"

Drop that drab and dreary winter look. Youth and health are in the making only a day away. Roses are blooming. Skies are turquoise. Children are playing in the sun—drinking in that precious Vitamin D through their pores all day long.

The traditions and the romance of the Old South—the cooking genius of the Southerners and the Creoles—the smart sports and pleasures of Mediterranean shores—all these and many other delights await you on the magic Gulf Coast.

The Pan-American
ALL-PULLMAN

The trip down on The Pan-American is the perfect prelude to the Gulf Coast. Take this luxurious train with club and observation cars, womens' lounge, shower baths, maid and valet, radio, etc., from Cincinnati or Louisville, and your enjoyment begins at once. De luxe accommodations without extra train fare.

New Orleans—most varied of American cities. A single street divides the old world and the new. Treat yourself to the rare cooking of famous old restaurants. You'll think you are in France or Spain. Leave Cincinnati or Louisville today on the luxurious Pan-American or other L. & N. all-steel trains and be in New Orleans tomorrow.

The Southwest—Now's the time to visit dude ranches and quaint Spanish missions. L. & N. connects at New Orleans with trains to Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, Dallas, Ft. Worth, El Paso, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Include the Gulf Coast, New Orleans, the Southwest and California in one trip. Liberal stop-overs.

California for the sunshine-minded is California the L. & N.-New Orleans way. Fine L. & N. trains from Cincinnati and Louisville connect at New Orleans with other fine through trains to California. Stop-over privileges.

Clark Gable Wants to Be Rolling Stone, Not Matinee Idol

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 30.

One of the screen's greatest matinee idols—and he wants to be a rolling stone.

Sitting on the set, Clarke Gable admitted to me he still can't believe his good fortune—fortune that has enabled him, in one year, to play opposite Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer, Greta Garbo and now Marion Davies.

The strange part of it is he doesn't want to go on with this glamorous life indefinitely. What he really wants, he confesses, is $200,000 and a chance to travel to the out-of-way places of the world.

I signed my five-year contract against the advice of my agent and even my wife, he told me. My object was to get enough to retire on. And I was willing to devote five years of my life to it. Maybe I won't last that long on the screen. I'm not a great actor and I never will be. But I believe I know my business. You can't work for 10 years with veteran stage stars and not absorb something.

Clarke Gable

Already Clarke is laying his plans for the future. "I own two cars, which I paid cash for," he explained to me. "I rent my apartment—but for six months, not a year. I don't even own my own furniture. I'm saving money."

This actor, who has set film fans agog the world over, doesn't know much about Hollywood social life. Marion Davies has introduced him to most of the stars he has met.

But he is a purposeful man, one who is likely to realize his ambitions. If he still desires it, you can look to see him a rolling stone in 1936.

MIRIAM GETS NEW ROLE

On seeing "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," I was struck by Miriam Hopkins' fine performance in a dramatic role. Naturally, this didn't escape Paramount officials. They are planning for her to appear opposite George Bancroft in "On the Black Sea," a melodrama by Phillip Zeska and Ernest Spitz.

They are telling a funny story about the colored revue, "Lively Days," which Rodney Pantages is putting on here shortly.

The script it seems called for a real horse. And it must be a comedy horse. After searching around, the management at last unearthed that swat-backed nag that used to appear in Mary Pickford pictures.

When the time came to talk terms, the owner of the animal insisted on a "cut of the play" contract.

Surprised, the management asked why.

"Well," he explained, "I don't want my horse to go in there and create that role and then have you run in some other animal."

LATEST TALK

Hollywood gossips are giving Ivan Lebedeff credit for being a business man. The story is he has persuaded his agent to pay his weekly check after the R-K-O contract lapses. . . . Marie Dressler will get two statues this year, the academy award and a life-size bust done by Jean Hersholt. He plans to cast it in bronze. . . . Joan Bennett's engagement ring is a sapphire surrounded by a cluster of diamonds. . . . Lilyan Tashman sent me a Christmas wire from New York. She'll be back on January 14. . . . Tay Garnett saw Marjorie Rambeau in Florida and reports she is very happy. It was Tay who gave Marjorie her first real break in the talkies. . . . Director Tod Browning put-puts around Hollywood in a tiny one-cylindered car. It is a German import, made to evade the European cylinder tax.

Boy Star

'Suicide Fleet' to Have Midnight Showing

The attraction at the Fulton's midnight performance New Year's Eve will be "Suicide Fleet," with a cast including William Boyd, Robert Armstrong, James Gleason, Ginger Rogers, Harry Bannister and Ben Alexander. The showing will be in the nature of a special preview. The film is scheduled to be screened in the Fulton later.

"Delicious," the Janet Gaynor-Charles Farrell film now showing at the Fulton, will be held for a second week, beginning tomorrow.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Do we like our chunes? George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" had the scantiest of success as a play. Flossed up with music by Oscar Straus and renamed "The Chocolate Soldier," it has "my-heroed" itself around the world numberless times as an operetta. . . . Now the op has been revised again with Vivienne Segal and Charles Purcell in the leads, and it will be in the Nixon next week with the customary mats. Ticket-dealing by the boys in the ticket cubicle will begin on the morrow.

* * *

* * *

Following the cancellation of the musical production, "Girl Crazy," the eye of the Alvin had been cast to the windward for a play for next week. And what do you suppose was blown into it? Nothing else but "Strange Interlude," that 5:30-to-11 play by Eugene O'Neill that gives the customers time out for ham-on-rye and coffee about midway of its nine acts. . . . Two bucks will be the "top" and nobody can say that isn't a bargain-day price. Mabel Julienne Scott plays the lead with Courtney White and Maurice Morris as her "men." Seats tomorrow at the b. o.

* * *

Small Timer says that some wives who got fur coats as presents are now becoming hep to the biological fact that some Christmas seals began life as rabbits.

* * *

In the film of Edna Ferber's "So Big" Barbara Stanwyck will find her leading man to be George Brent, a stager. . . . In the cast of the new film version of "The Miracle Man" will be Florine McKinney, Fort Wayth high school girl, the latest to Horatio Alger her way into the studios. . . . Who remembers the first "Miracle Man," that "made" three players? They were Thomas Meighan, Lon Chaney and Betty Compson. . . . Broadway is negotiating with Bebe Daniels to appear in a new musicom. . . . Peggy Wood, Pearl Osgood, Lynne Overman, John Sheehan and Walter Winchell won't be in "Star Dust" because there won't be any such thing. Gold dust trouble. . . . "The Green Pastures" will end its run in Chicago January 16, after which it will hit the road. Chi is its second town, N'Yawk having been the first.

* * *

Mary Wigman, Dancer, Here January 8

Mary Wigman, who has achieved fame in Germany and America in the art of the dance, will appear for the first time before a Pittsburgh audience Friday evening, January 8, in Carnegie Music Hall. She is said to be to the modern dance what Pavlowa was to the Russian ballet and what Isadora Duncan was to the interpretative dance. She is the leader and founder of the whole modern German dance school. Her appearance here will be under the management of May Beegle.

Anatoles Plan Frolic New Year's Eve

The Anatole Club will hold a New Year's Eve frolic in the Hotel Schenley ballroom at 10 o'clock tomorrow night. A gala program has been arranged. Music will be played by the Tragesser Nighthawks.

Traveler

This Town of Ours

J. D. Rockefeller, Sr., whose holiday cards read "Prosperity Is Around the Corner," shaved the wages of his household staff plenty on Dec. 23 . . . Betty Compson and I. Wemberg are blazing . . . Ditto Henry Clive and Rennee Whitney . . . Eleanor Hunt (the ex-Mrs. Rex Lease) and her doctor are lee-hee . . . The beautiful friendship of Lois Moran and Douglass Montgomery is slowly rotting into affection . . . America's Swede Heart—as Master Hoffman tags Garbo-me-eye!—brought only two bags and no trunks . . . She frightened St. Moritz Hotel maids by parading about her room in that pale face plus a black cape a la Dracula.

Cole Porter and his swelegant "Star Dust" score sailed for Yurrup last wk . . . It's a blassed-event over at the William (P. Whiteman Orchestra) Rands . . . Ina Claire goes places with a lad who wears a green full dress suit . . . Anything for a laugh, huh, Ina? . . . There will be an influx of screen stars from the coast within a fortnight trying to crash Broadway shows in the Buddy Rogers manner . . . Robert Sanford, dance tutor of the "Ballyhoo" show, and Marty Carlton, who hoofs in it, are That Waying It . . . Al E. Smith will propose a two-billion smacker Prosperity Road Issue and line up with the La Follette Progressives in his Jackson Day speech . . . Jacquelin Hunter and "Tink" Baldridge, of the Steel business, are plotting to make some preacher $2 richer . . . A job for an exceptional City Editor is begging. The Man . . . Please don't call or write me—write G. A. R.—1650 B'way, Room 498.

Dr. Thomashefsky, the son of the famous Yiddish actor, who was shot by his nurse last summer, is still in the Bklyn hosp, hopelessly paralyzed . . . The Walter (Times) Joyces are storking . . . P. Visher, editor of Polo, had an appen op at St. Luke's Hosp, but is better at home . . . Katherine Burke, of the Ziegfeld Choir, found her hotel room burgled out of $2,500 worth of clothes . . . The World-Telly is asking for 3 pairs of first night seats for its dramatic staff because the Sun rates that many . . . Carlton Andrews says: "I hope all your children become acrobats!" . . . Lyda Roberti's sister, Manya, will middle-aisle it next month . . . Pretty Billie Smith, who was here in "50 Million Frenchmen," is dead . . . By the way, France hasn't 50 million citizens—only 41 . . . Frank Colgan and Eleanor Clarke will tell it to a parson Feb. 3 . . . Beth Langley of the movie sets and Dietrich Kohlstaat, of Santa Barbara are Garbo-Gableing . . . I. Klinson, whose arm got limp penning holiday cards, puns: "It's a great life if you don't weaken."

Jimmy Wilson, they say, has been formally if secretly engaged as football coach at the Univ. of Buffalo . . . The Frank Bucks were blessed last wk . . . Here's a hot one—local police prohibit dancing in the speakeasies!!! . . . The unwritten law in all hush-houses is: "One drink on the house for every four purchased!" . . . Jack Osterman observes that the sign over the Earl Carroll stage entrance should be revised like this: "Thru These Portals the Most Beautiful Girls in the World Pass Out!" . . . Last wk you could have had a room in an Atlantic City hotel on the Boardwalk for $2. . . . Over a year ago it was reported here that the Maine Monument was in a disgraceful condition . . . Authorities announced it would be repaired . . . It is now in worse condition—worse than many statues in Rome dating from B. C.

Take it from H. Seton, who felt the depression, too, December 31 will be celebrated as "New Year's Evil" . . . The envelopes for the forthcoming well known tab are mucilaged with a toothwash taste . . . One of the few Xmas trees in New York was the one in the center of the excavation of Radio City—to cheer the day and all-night workers . . . Mary Irwin is back in circulation legally . . . A Brooklyn newspaper publisher is backing the Irving Berlin lah-de-dah . . . Was Patricia Caron married secretly recently—and why did she leave him so soon? . . . The Thomaston (Ga.) Times observes: "Walter Winchell uses !! to indicate femmes' stems. We see lots that look like ( )."

Isn't it about time Roger Wolfe Kahn, Otto's boy, had the windows of his office at 49th and B'way washed? . . . Wm. Taylor, of the Piano Business, who had to divorce his squaw twice, and Gladys Axman, who only divorced her husband once, Went and Did It weeks ago in Greenwich . . . Mrs. J. Phillips Benkard, of the Social Register, had to get that Philly doctor to extract a quarter swallowed by her 4-yr-old . . . What tremendous odds! . . . A. D. Nast, Jr., young Chicago broker, and Dorothy (3rd Little Show) Fitzgibbon care . . . Add great descriptions by way of a simile from J. Caborn: "She kisses like a tuba player plays!"

Walter Thornton, who supplies all the models in town for magazine front covers, and Judith Nolan, his newest Gorgeous Shape, are ahem! . . . What Toscanini really said before chucking the Bayreuth Festival forever was: "I could run a grocery store better than you run the Wagner performances!" . . . Norman Klein's new novel will make Boston's face so red . . . L. Kaye's definition of a genius is a man who can re-write a traveling salesman joke and get it accepted by the Ladies' Home Journel . . . Dorothy Parker, who wrote that famous couplet: "Men never make passes at girls who wear glasses," probably never read of Michael Arlen's grandest heroine who was nice and all that—but was "so extremely appealing and lovable when she wore her tortoise shell specs—that men could hardly stand it!"

Broadway latest symbol on character: "He's worth his weight in Xmas cards!" . . . What's become of the Tiller girls? . . . The "Cat and the Fiddle" program tells about George Metaxa's Hollywood experience . . . Metaxa has never been to Hollywood . . . The monthly mags are buying almost nothing . . . One of the more famous of the woman's mags will collapse in about 2 months—unless . . . Hal LeRoy of the "Follies" and Tito of the M. Britton Band have written a song accepted for publication entitled: "Trying to Forget" . . . This is very amusing—considering that the combined ages of the kids is about 30 . . . Perhaps Peter Arno's show would have kept on running if C. Vanderbilt, Jr., had chased it down a street with an unloaded gat.

14 Mafia Members Sentenced to Prison

PALERMO, Sicily, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—One hundred and forty-one convicted members of the Mafia terrorist society yesterday received prison sentences totaling 373 years and ranging from six months to 10 years. One hundred and four others were acquitted.

Oklahoma Youth To Die for Holdup

NEWKIRK, Okla., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Upon his plea of guilty to robbery with firearms, Ignacio Gomez, American-born Mexican youth, was sentenced yesterday by District Judge Claude Duval to die in the electric chair March 11. Gomez confessed he held up J. A. Armstrong, Ponca City merchant.

Break in Mack Infield. As Rajah Sees Grimes.

CLEVELAND REOPENS DEAL FOR BOLEY

THE GENERAL SURMISE in baseball circles that the showing of Dib Williams at shortstop for the A's in the 1931 world series would mean his retention at that position, and consequently the first permanent break in the regular lineup of Connie Mack's three-time pennant winners evidently was not far from the mark. Indications are stronger than ever that Williams will start the 1932 season on the shortfield job and that Boley by that time will have been transferred to some other club.

Joe Boley

Right now, according to Ed Bang, it looks as though that other club will be Cleveland. Recently Mack was reported to have offered Boley to the Indians in exchange for First Baseman Eddie Morgan, but naturally the proposal was rejected by the Indians, inasmuch as Morgan is only 26 while Boley is 33 and probably not far from the end of his string. But it is understood that within the last few days Cleveland countered with a cash offer for Boley and that there is a strong chance the deal will go through before the clubs go South for spring training.

THERE IS NO doubt that Boley will start at shortstop for the Tribe if the deal is consummated, as the Cleveland club would hardly go to the expense of buying him and then keep him on the bench while using Ex-Pirate Eddie Montague or one of the other young candidates as a regular. But at that Joe would solve Roger Peckinpaugh's shortfield problem only temporarily as baseball men believe the veteran has little more than one season of major league service left in his system.

If Boley cannot be obtained, Manager Peckinpaugh may do some bold experimenting by trying Bob Seeds at shortstop. Seeds, fast and a good hitter, was bought from Kansas City as an outfielder, but there is no room for him in that department with Earl Averill, Dick Porter and Joe Vosmik listed as regulars and Bib Falk and Charley Jamieson available as reserves, so the recruit may get a tryout at shortstop if the Boley deal fails.

THE CLEVELAND CLUB is also reported close to completing other negotiations of long standing which will mean the passing of the present American League grounds in that city and the playing of all the Indians' future games in the Municipal Stadium.

Hitches that developed in the dickering last summer threatened to block the plan, but both sides recently made concessions and terms of the lease are expected to be approved within the next week.

THE CUBS WILL run to young blood outside the pitching department next year. Manager Hornsby is striving for youth and fire in rebuilding his team. If Charley Grimm is traded and Riggs Stephenson is carried only for reserve duty, as is reported to be the plan, Kiki Cuyler at 32 will be the oldest regular. Harry Taylor, the local boy bought for first base, is only 23, Bill Herman at second is 22, Shortstop Woody English is 24, Third Baseman Stanley Hack is 20 and Outfielders Kreevich and Barton are only 21 and 24, respectively, while the bulk of the catching is to be done by Rollie Hemsley, 24.

Rogers Hornsby

HORNSBY ISN'T WORRIED over the possibility that the presence of Burleigh Grimes on his pitching staff next year may lead to a renewal of the spats in which the two engaged while both were members of the Giants back in 1927.

"I never knew that Burleigh and I were enemies," Hornsby said. "Maybe he has disliked me without my suspecting it. If this is true, I hope he shows it like he did when I was acting manager of the Giants and Grimes was a pitcher on the same club. Burleigh had a tough time getting started that year and won few games before John McGraw became ill. But while I was acting manager, Grimes won 13 straight.

"I AM NOT claiming that I told Grimes how to win 13 in a row or that I inspired him to hang up the string, but he wouldn't have been terribly upset because I was playing second base behind him.

"One of the many things I admire about Grimes is that he pitches to win for himself and his club. He doesn't waste time and energy sulking about personal matters after he puts on his uniform. Burleigh may show up minus some of his pitching stuff, but he'll never lose his fighting heart, and he'll be worth his hire as an example to the young Cubs if for no other reason.

EVEN IN THE South, and the strong and weak points of Tulane are best known in that region, there are some football men who look for a victory for Southern California in Friday's Rose Bowl game. One of them is Bill Alexander, coach at Georgia Tech. His team played both Georgia and Tulane during the 1931 season, and if you'll take his word for it, Georgia is the better eleven. And, Georgia, it will be recalled, was smothered by Southern California under the rather convincing score of 60 to 0.

IN THE OPINION of Alexander, when the Tulanes defeated Georgia they beat the best team below the Mason and Dixon line. It is true that Tulane scored a victory over Georgia, 20 to 7, but Alexander figures that was due to a difference between their schedules.

In six games before facing Tulane, Georgia had to meet Virginia Poly, Yale, North Carolina, Vanderbilt, Florida and New York U., playing four of the six contests away from home. Tulane encountered comparatively soft opposition in the meantime, its only hard games being those with Texas Aggies and Vanderbilt. It was the schedule, not Tulane, that beat Georgia, Alexander asserts.

A BOUT THAT ought to show whether Billy Townsend, Vancouver youngster, has come along far enough to be considered as a middleweight championship possibility is on the cards for tonight, when Townsend will meet Billy Petrolle for 10 rounds in New York.

It's a clash of two of the hardest hitters in the 147-pound division and may turn out to be one of the best battles of the year, with the winner getting a match with Lloyd McLarnin or a title chance against Joe Brouillard.

Billy Petrolle

TOWNSEND IS A fine prospect, but whether he is ripe for a title shot can not be determined definitely until after tonight's fight. If he can beat Petrolle decisively he is good enough for any of them. On paper Townsend looks like the probable winner, as he is coming while Petrolle is going, but Petrolle has braved so often to fool the critics just when they had him ready for retirement that you can't count him as licked until it has actually happened. Strangely enough, the thing that spurs Townsend on in this bout is not the possibility of a championship match as a reward but the prospect of getting a crack at McLarnin. The hatic axiom that a championship bout is the ambition of every boxer does not hold in the case of this fighter. Promised a title bout with Brouillard if successful against Petrolle, Townsend declared he would prefer a match with McLarnin, his home-town rival from Vancouver. "The championship can wait," he said. "I've been trying to get a bout with McLarnin ever since we were kids in Vancouver."

RULES CHANGES SUGGESTED AT BIG CONFAB

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Football's major problem—almost 50 deaths in 1931—reared from the sidelines to force the naming of an investigation committee with orders to study the situation exhaustively and report back to the Football Coaches' Association next winter.

A variety of suggestions for changes designed to protect players were made.

A call from John Heisman's suggestions that mass interference be abolished and football be turned into modified English rugby, down to Pop Warner's written advice that soft padding and riding leather helmets be substituted for the protectors he believes don't deserve a player and merely give out punishment.

STEVENS HEADS COMMITTEE

A committee headed by Dr. Mal Stevens of Yale, new president, was named to study the causes of the football injuries and deaths.

But Ingwersen, in the report, said discussions with 50 coaches had indicated there might be reasons to consider the possibilities of a higher tee for kickoffs, the restraining of the seven defensive linemen to positions between their own 40 and 50-yard lines on kickoffs, clear definition of forward pass interference, a new rule on roughing a forward passer, putting the goal posts back on the goal line to increase field goals and the advisability of permitting the interrupter of a lateral pass on a kickoff play to run with the ball. He made no specific recommendations.

Herb McCracken, of Lafayette, said a personal poll of high school superintendents and principals in 19 of the deaths revealed that physical examination beforehand would have shown as the autopsies did, that all were physically unfit to play football.

WARNER'S SUGGESTIONS

Heisman warned the coaches that "aroused public opinion" would wipe out football if next season proved as deadly as 1931. He suggested the elimination of linemen pulled out of the forward wall and thrown ahead of runners on end sweeps and would compensate for that by permitting the linemen to trail the backs and take backward passes legally.

Warner, who was unable to come here for the meeting from Stanford, prefaced his pertinent suggestions with the observation:

"The game is no different, no more dangerous than in the past, but we could make some changes."

He stressed necessity for a rule change to make illegal and a foul use of hands by a defensive lineman on the head and neck of an opponent. Such tactics now legal, are unnecessary, he wrote, and particularly hard on the defenseless defensive center. He said coaches teach players to jab with their hands not so much to knock

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE BARREL THAT BURST, BUT DIDN'T LEAK—In the winter of 1929 a water barrel at the New Haven Ice and Coal Company, New Haven, Ky., froze and a stave burst from the side, but still it did not leak. It had a lime formation around the inside of the barrel, which held it water-tight. THE HOOVER ANCESTRAL HOME—German genealogical research established the first ancestral home of the President to have been in Switzerland. In the beginning of the eighteenth century the family took up their abode in the vine and fruit-wreathed country of the Rhenish Palatinate. The German ancestral home of the Hoovers, "Huberhof," was in Ellerstadt and was known as "Das Weisse Haus" (White House) from its color. Many centuries before an ancestor of the President emigrated to America, where he changed his name to Hoover, the White House in Ellerstadt housed the presidential ancestors. It would seem as if this significant name foreshadowed for their illustrious offspring his occupancy of the White House in Washington.

PANTHERS TOP STANFORD BY 22-11 SCORE

GAMES TONIGHT

Geneva at Dana College.
Marshall at Kentucky U.

By H. C. Carlson

Pitt Basketball Coach.

Written Exclusively for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—Our University of Pittsburgh basketball party arrived here in good shape after bumping Stanford University, 22 to 11, at Stanford last night, and tonight expects a worthy foe in the University of Southern California tossers.

Dr. H. C. Carlson

Out here San Jose is pronounced "San Ho Zay," but the teams that score the most points still win games. Yesterday morning we bade goodbye to old "U 100," our home for two days and three nights, and we left snowy California to hit rainy California, and we joined our team with the all-East team and the natives, for it has rained 12½ days.

Pop Warner, Thornhill and Winterburn met us and released fond reminiscences.

The game was hard fought last night, and we are glad California University did not take us up on the idea of a doubleheader. Stanford is coached by John Bunn, formerly of Kansas U., and it looked better than the Kansas team, although its shooting was off.

The Stanford boys were more sturdy than Pitt, and those little boys just bounced off that Stanford zone defense. Stanford passed well and dribbled nicely, but did not score enough. About five fouls were called on Pitt for so-called face guarding and Hughes left the game on this account.

Tonight brings Southern California and they are considered more formidable than Stanford.

On Thursday we help dedicate the new municipal auditorium at Pasadena, so we still have plenty ahead for the week. All the boys are well, but a faint trace of homesickness is becoming apparent.

As long as Willie Kowallis, Lowry, Wroblesky, Ochsenhirt, Hughes and Smith continue as at present, we shall certainly bother the opposition. The lineup:

Lowry, f.	2	2	6	Gerdes, f.	0	0	0
Wroblesky, f.	2	1	5	Cowell, f.	1	1	3
Kowallis, g.	0	0	0	Harrison, g.	0	1	1

Officials: Herb Dana and Tom Fitzpatrick.

VINES VICTOR OVER LOTT

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines, 20-year-old Pasadena youth, reaffirmed his right to the national singles championship when he turned back George Lott, of Chicago, in a three-set match that featured a charity tennis program here last night. The scores were 6-2, 3-6, 10-8.

In the opening singles match Frank X. Shields, of New York methodically trimmed his Davis Cup teammate, John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, in two sets, 6-4, 6-4.

Matman Disqualified For Choking Foe

BALTIMORE, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Dick Daviscourt, heavyweight wrestler from California, was disqualified here last night in a bout with Matros Kitlenko for choking his opponent with the ropes. Kitlenko was declared the winner after the bout had been in progress 25 minutes.

Sport Scribes Annoy Air Waves

Members of the sports staff of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will conduct another Sports Quiz over Station WCAE, the Voice of the Sun-Telegraph, at 7 o'clock tonight. They will answer questions on various sports matters submitted by readers and radio listeners.

Vern Swartsfager and Jess Carver will make their bow during this period, and Tom Birks and Julius Levin will be back for a return engagement. Harry Keck will be master of ceremonies. Charles J. Doyle will be among the "Trained Seals" of the sports staff, who will feature next week's period.

DUNLAP BEATS MORRISON

PINEHURST, N. C., Dec. 30.—(INS)—George T. Dunlap, Jr., of New York, defending champion, remained in the midwinter tournament by defeating Robert G. Morrison, Pittsburgh, 4 and 2, here yesterday.

Eric D. Thompson, of Springfield, Mass., eliminated Halbert J. Blue, Aberdeen, N. C., 3 and 2. Richard Wilson, Southern Pines, medalist, defeated Francis T. Keating, New York, 6 and 5. Richard Chapman, Greenwich, Conn., defeated Philip S. P. Randolph, Jr., Hempstead, L. I., 6 and 4.

Ted Scofield, New York, advanced to the final round of the boys' championship by defeating Lawrence Barr Gray, New York, 4 and 3. J. B. Blackburn, Jr., of Pittsburgh, was beaten 2 and 1 in another match.

Shady Side Alumni Play Vangs Again

A return match between the former Shady Side Academy polo team and the Vangs is to be played Friday afternoon at the Hunt Armory. Shady Side team will be strengthened by the appearance of David I. McCrosh in the lineup. The game gets under way at 2 o'clock.

DETROIT, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Detroit found a long lost offense last night and won an International League hockey game from Pittsburgh, 6 to 1. The game was one of the wildest scoring bees on the local ice this year.

Detroit started with a concerted drive which scored two goals. Both were tallied by Goldsworthy on assists from McCabe and Evans.

MILLER TALLIES

Miller, the former Chicago Blackhawk playing his first game here with the Yellow Jackets, netted the visitors one tally, due partly to a lax moment by Venne.

Gillie made a third period score when he shot in Peters' rebound. Rockburn assisted for one of the Detroit score, of the third period and took the last one all alone on a solo dash down the ice. The lineup:

Pittsburgh		Detroit
Cox	G	Vezina
Berlett	D	Hackett
Fraser	D	Irwin
Miller	F	Newman
Arthur	C	Peters
Ingram	R	Evans

CLEVELAND HERE TOMORROW

The Yellow Jackets will make their first home appearance in two weeks when they meet the Cleveland Indians at Duquesne Garden tomorrow night. The London Tecumsehs are to come here for a game Saturday.

CARAFFIS STAR IN CLEVELAND

By TOM BIRKS

With the Slavia-Rosenbloom Club, of Cleveland, returning to fine form, it would appear that Morgan soccer club, present Keystone League leaders, is going to have a tough afternoon in the Forest City Sunday in its National open tourney game.

Latest reports indicate Ralph Caraffi and Pie Caraffi, former local players, are in great form, the Caraffi boys were responsible for the Rosenblooms' two straight wins in St. Louis.

Dave Matthews, Chappell and Fred Donnelli will have to watch the combination.

There is a feeling locally that Morgan will win with ease, but they certainly will have to be in their best stride. Manager Bunaby is hoping for warmer weather to continue, so that a soft field will be in order.

A number of local fans will make the trip to the Forest City on a special train.

On Friday, in the feature game of the day, Union Switch and Clan Douglas meet in the semi-final round of the Western Pennsylvania championship series, at the Westinghouse High School Stadium.

Sport Vignettes

What does the new year promise in the way of fistic doings? . . . Well, don't be surprised to see Ernie Schaaf, protege of Jack Sharkey, outgallop the field to rate the top position among the heavyweight challengers . . . Max Schmeling appears safe as the king of the field . . . Mickey Walker will give him a good fight in Miami next month, and, if he takes on no more serious menace than the shell of Jack Dempsey next summer, he still should reign at the end of 1932 . . . Max wants none of Jack Sharkey, who, on a good night, would figure to beat him handily . . . Schmeling is a good champion, although not a great one, and, over the 15-round route, is virtually unbeatable by the present crop of aspirants for his honors, aside from, of course, Sharkey and possibly Schaaf . . . Ernie is the most improved of the younger crop of heavies.

The year 1931 was not a particularly hot one in the fistic realm. . . . It saw Midget Wolgast retain his claim to the flyweight title and Frankie Genaro lose his position and virtually fade from the picture. . . . Al Brown retained the bantamweight crown. Battling Battalino improved his position as featherweight champion. Tony Canzoneri demonstrated he is the real champion of the lightweights. Benny Bass lost the junior-lightweight title to Kid Chocolate. Canzoneri also annexed the junior-welterweight crown by knocking out Jack (Kid) Berg and beating him again in a return bout, the welterweight title hopscotched from Tommy Freeman back to Young Jack Thompson and then to Lou Brouillard. Mickey Walker resigned the middleweight title. Maxie Rosenbloom retained the light-heavy laurels, although ruled out so far as the N. B. A. is concerned, and Schmeling provided the high spot of the year when he technically knocked out Young Stribling in the closing moments of a 15-round battle in Cleveland. . . . The failure of Primo Carnero when put to the test against Sharkey was another feature.

Locally we saw Buck McTiernan and George Panka, along with Willie Davies, slump into mediocrity and the rise of Jimmy Thomas, Battling Gizzy, Mose Butch, Jimmy Belmont and Ted Yarosz. Belmont's two knockouts over McTiernan were the outstanding events. The keen rivals fought before two large crowds at the Meyers Bowl. While receipts were falling off sadly almost everywhere else, the sport managed to hold up in fine style in Pittsburgh . . . With so many fine young boxers coming along and a new club or two in the offing, boxing should fare very well here during 1932.—HARRY KECK.

Grid Receipts Give Unemployed Work

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Every unemployed man of Annapolis will be put to work tomorrow through proceeds of football played at the Naval Academy during the past season, for which admission was charged for the first time in history.

The Annapolis Park Commission today issued a call for all the unemployed, white and Negro, to report for work clearing Truxton Park, a 32-acre tract, recently donated to the city. They will be paid from money realized from the grid receipts.

Billy Jones vs. Larry Johnson, Baxter Calmes vs. Roscoe Manning and Bob Olin vs. Clyde Chastain, 10 rounds each (second round of N. B. A. light-heavyweight tournament), Stadium, Chicago.

Max Baer vs. Arthur DeKuh, 10 rounds, Oakland, Cal.

By HARRY KECK

The card has been completed for the New Year's Night boxing show in Motor Square Garden, Friday, with the signing of Luis Carpentero, Filipino veteran, of Toledo, to box Jimmy Thomas, local Negro bantamweight, in the eight-round semi-final.

Battling Gizzy, of Donora, and Roger Bernard, of Flint, Mich., and Philadelphia, are in the 10-round main bout. Sunny Jim McVey, of Rankin, and Buddy McArthur, of McKeesport, in the second bout, and Paddy Gilmore, of East Liverpool, O., and Fritzie Zivic, of Lawrenceville, in the opener.

Between Rounds

Tommy Crawley, South Side lightweight, and his old rival, Phil Goldstein, of the Hill, will meet in a three-round exhibition bout, featuring an amateur boxing card sponsored by St. John's Church in its Lyceum, Thirteenth street, South Side, tonight. Eight other bouts are on the program.

Al Brown meets Speedy Dado at Los Angeles, January 5.

The Wheeling club is trying to stage a windup between Tuts Marino and Jackie Powell, of Youngstown, for January 21. Jimmy Grogan, of Lawrenceville, boxes Kid Alberts on the same card.

Joey Thomas, Chicago junior-lightweight, who defeated Prince Saunders after the latter knocked out Roger Bernard, wants to fight the winner of the Gizzy-Bernard bout. Joey has been around here for more than a month looking for a match and is good enough to fight the best of them.

Joey Kathish, of Lawrenceville, is back in training and wants to box Jackie Wilson, Johnny Warner, Elmer Zivic or Steve Smyth or any of the other feather-weights. He may be reached by calling Fisk 9014.

The dates of the diamond studded championship boxing tournament at the Gaiatic Gardens, Uniontown, under the auspices of the Knights A. C. have been changed from January 13-14 to January 12-13.

Marie Rosenbloom, the light heavyweight champion, is booked for four bouts. He meets Dave Kaiser at Milwaukee Friday; Abe Bain at Newark, N. J., January 15; Gustave Poffenberger at West Palm Beach, Fla., on January 26, and Tom Cannella at Jacksonville, Fla., February 9.

King Levinsky's next start will be against Pauline Ferndon in the Chicago Stadium, January 15.

Tony Canzoneri, the lightweight champion, meets Herman Perlick in a 8-rounder at the St. Nicholas Arena, New York, next Monday night.

an opponent off balance as to deal out punishment. He thought a change in the penalty for kneeing would cause timorous referees to call that foul more often. The penalty now is expulsion from the game and a team loss of half the distance to the goal.

Reports of sectional committees, and brief talks by Hunk Anderson, of Notre Dame, on line play; McCracken on forward defense, Wallace Wade, of Duke, on blocking and tackling, and forward pass technique by Charles Dorais, of Detroit, took up most of the afternoon session.

The annual Brown Derby banquet last night and the two-day session of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, starting today, complete the meetings that began with the Eastern Football Officials Association gathering Sunday.

The coaches named Dan McGugin, of Vanderbilt, first vice president, and Dana X. Bible, of Nebraska, second vice president. Bill Cowell, of New Hampshire, again was elected secretary-treasurer.

Gus Welch, of the football coaching staff of the University of Virginia, outclassed a small field to retain the brown derby awarded annually at the banquet of the American Football Coaches' Association to the coach who can come up with the funniest story.

Welch won with a yarn about his playing days with the Carlisle Indians, 20 years ago, when he accidentally crawled into bed with a corpse.

Fight Results

At Indianapolis—Ray Trimble defeated Sammy (Kid) Slaughter, 10 rounds. Andy Kellett knocked out Joe Mandot, 2 rounds. Jimmy Murphy and Donald Fraze drew, 8 rounds.

TROJAN, TULANE ELEVENS HOLD WORKOUT

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—For the first time in almost a week, the sun smiled yesterday, enabling the Tulane and Southern California football squads to return to the out-of-doors to prepare for their Rose Tournament clash New Year's Day.

Coach Bernie Bierman gave the Green Wave a long chalk talk, and then, after luncheon, put the squad through defensive and offensive drill and some fundamentals, especially blocking.

P. I. A. A. HEADS MEET HERE

By JULIUS LEVIN

An open discussion of the work of officials in both football and basketball and the fees for same marked the opening session of delegates to the annual meeting of the Board of Control of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association (PIAA) at the School for the Blind in Bellefield avenue this morning.

Many of the delegates objected to the varying scale of fees, contending some of them were too high, and an attempt was made to reach an agreement on uniform prices.

Officers were to be elected and other business transacted at this afternoon's sessions. The annual State basketball tournament and track matters were to be taken up.

C. S. Davis, of Steelton, president of the board of control, was in charge of the convention, with Edmund Wicht, of Harrisburg, secretary, active in the confab.

C. Lawrence Walsh, supervisor of hygiene in the Pittsburgh Public Schools, represented the city high schools, forming District No. 8 of the P. I. A. A., while H. W. Crane, of Monongahela, represented the W. P. I. A. L., District No. 7.

Father Cox's Jobless Army Set for Trip

CARAVAN MOVES FOR CAPITAL ON TUESDAY

Final Rally Slated Sunday For 'March' to Protest Work Crisis in Washington

With a final rally scheduled for Sunday in Old St. Patrick's Church, everything was in readiness today for the "Father Cox Jobless March" to Washington, which is to begin Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock.

Sponsored by the Retail Merchants of Allegheny County, the caravan will be made up of at least 1,000 automobiles and trucks, according to the Rev. James R. Cox, who will ride in the first truck of the caravan and who will act as spokesman for the party.

FOOD ASSURED

Advance agents have prepared the way for the caravan so that its members may be sure of at least hot coffee in the towns in which they stop. Enough sandwiches will be provided each man to last him for six days. One truck will be equipped with loud-speakers. Two bands will accompany the caravan and American flags will be carried.

Assisting Father Cox in maintaining order will be three adjutants, George Ewing, Earl Dean and William Mason, who will in turn be given help by captains and lieutenants apportioned off to every 50 men. One division of former service men also will accompany the caravan.

In his plea at Washington to be made at a gathering on the steps of the Capitol, Father Cox will stress the advisability of taxing inheritances and of guarding against the practice whereby billionaires can make gifts to their families during their life times so that the tax may be avoided.

HOLDS SYSTEM UNSOUND

Discussing employment conditions, he said:

"Our economic system is not sound and we have lost control of government. We must secure funds through proper taxation of inheritance and gifts so that a program of road building and of hospital building can be inaugurated.

"With proper roads we would no longer have isolated country districts, and with proper hospital facilities in every part of the country we would be able to better the conditions of our citizens."

The work required for these programs would give our unemployed jobs.

Perry High Paper Scores in Contest

"The Perryscope," school paper of Perry High School, won second place for editorial excellence in a competition arranged by the Pennsylvania School Press Association which met yesterday at Carnegie Institute of Technology in connection with the convention of the Pennsylvania State Education Association. Bernard Fleming is editor-in-chief of the Perryscope.

Ladies' Day Set By Kiwanis Club

Ladies' day will be observed by the Kiwanis Club of Pittsburgh at its weekly luncheon tomorrow in the Fort Pitt Hotel, with the Lions Club of Pittsburgh joining in the program. A 24-voice male chorus, directed by Lee Heff Barnes and David Broudy and his concert ensemble orchestra will be among the features.

Racketeer Hunted Over Bad Checks

East End police today were seeking a racketeer working a new scheme. According to a Homewood man, reporting to the police, the stranger rents a garage, tenders an indorsed check for $20, collects the change from the garage owner and the check turns out to be no good.

FRANCES "TOOTS" STRIDER — BABY DOLL BUT NO MOTHER

MOTHER GONE, BABY CRIES

Although Santa Claus brought little Frances Strider, age 2½, a doll for Christmas, she still cries every day for her mother, Minnie Strider, 17, of 606 Kendell street, who disappeared six weeks ago. The baby's uncle, Elmer, 18, said:

"Minnie washed and ironed her clothes and said she was going to a job doing housework. Mother told her to come back on Sunday and bring some money. She said 'O. K., mom.' And that's the last we saw of her."

Missing Postmaster In Niagara Falls

Postmaster Frank Householder, of Oakmont, missing from his home, Fifth street and Delaware avenue, Oakmont, since early yesterday, is visiting friends in Niagara Falls, he advised members of his family today, according to Chief of Police Charles Helwig, of Oakmont. Householder's leg was amputated recently, and he had been in ill health, the family said.

17th Ward to Fill Armstrong Post

A successor to the late Joseph G. Armstrong as Republican chairman of the Seventeenth Ward will be chosen tonight when the ward and city committees meet in Birmingham Turner Hall. Alderman-elect P. J. Riley and B. L. Slicrop are aspirants for the position.

INJURED DEAN WANTS BARBER

Dean A. W. Tarbell, of Carnegie Tech, was in Mercy Hospital today, complaining not of his injuries but of his barber's lateness.

Dean Tarbell hadn't been shaved since he was taken to Mercy Hospital Sunday after suffering a bruised shoulder and bruised hip when hit by an automobile. The injuries were regarded as minor. In fact, the dean insisted:

"I've been thrown farther than this in football. What are a few bruises in this day and age?"

Dean Tarbell was struck by an automobile said to have been driven by Maurice Vilsack, of 1516 Beechwood boulevard, outside the Tarbell home, at 5090 Forbes street.

'Bugs' Gives Some Suggestions for Glad New Year

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

To improve the New Year:

League of Nations should move from Swiss Alps to Tibet, where the mountains are higher.

DR. HAMMERS OFFERS TO GO ON RATIONS

Mayview Head Urges Army Plan for Aides; Caviar Costs Aired in Probe

Dr. James S. Hammers, superintendent of the City Home and Hospital at Mayview, whose expenditures for caviar and winter strawberries were revealed in the recent city Department of Supplies inquiry, has volunteered to go on a ration basis.

Controller James P. Kerr revealed that Dr. Hammers has suggested that all officials at Mayview be paid a certain sum for food based on the allowance to officers of the United States Army. Although this policy has not been definitely decided, it is believed it will be put into effect.

Other changes connected with supplies at Mayview are being considered, Controller Kerr stated. Auditors from the Controller's office have been investigating methods used in the storeroom at Mayview.

In addition to the Controller's men, several clerks from the Allegheny County Emergency Association have been sent to Mayview to aid in the checkup.

From other sources it is reported that when supplies once leave the storeroom at Mayview there is nothing to indicate where they are or how they are used. There have been instances where the shelves of the main storehouse have been bare of a certain article, but a number of smaller storerooms in the various buildings and wards have been filled with it.

Recently a large order for sheets was stopped by the Controller's office when it was found that a plentiful supply existed in the wards of the hospital. It is the purpose of the Controller's office to account for every item of merchandise sent to Mayview until it is finally worn out or discarded.

Auto Inspections To Begin Saturday

Official inspection of automobiles will begin next Saturday and continue until March 31, according to announcement by the State Highway Department. Inspections must be made at authorized stations where windshield stickers of approval will be attached.

Youth Hurt in Fight, Police Seek Slugger

Albert Bellene, 18, of 514 McDonald street, was reported in serious condition in Pittsburgh Hospital today while police sought his assailant.

Bellene was hit with a blackjack in a fight at Larimer avenue and Everett street, East End, early today, police said.

DR. HAAS ELECTED STATE HEAD BY TEACHERS

Pittsburgher Is Unopposed For 2nd Vice President; 25 Meetings Held Today

Dr. Francis B. Haas, president of the State Teachers' College at Bloomsburg, today was elected president of the State Education Association as that organization's delegates to the eighty-second annual convention meet for the third day in Memorial Hall.

Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of Pittsburgh public schools, was unanimously and without opposition, elected second vice president.

HARRISBURG SELECTED

Harrisburg was chosen as the 1932 convention city, where delegates will convene the first Monday after Christmas.

Dr. Benz and W. M. Peiree, of Ridgway, were appointed as a committee on teacher welfare.

The executive council, members of which are also named as heads of the association departments which they represent, was chosen as follows:

Charlotte Schmerker, of Allentown, art department; S. D. App, of Harrisburg, county superintendence department; H. R. Vandersliee, of Aliquippa, district superintendence department; Anna Walker, of Philadelphia, graded schools department; Dean Charles Max McConn, of Lehigh University, Bethlehem, higher education department; Emma C. Dowling, of Reading, kindergarten-primary department; Mrs. E. S. Reider, of McKeesport, music department; R. W. Robinson, of Greensburg, rural education department; J. F. Faust, of Chambersburg, secondary education department; S. Todd Perley, of Avalon, supervising principals department; and G. H. Parkes, of Williamsport, vocational education and practical art department.

MAN TRAPPED TIPSTAFF BUCK, IN STORE FLEES MINISTER, DIES

A Negro robber escaped from the Sterrett pharmacy, 920 Homewood avenue, this morning while the proprietor, S. A. Stright, and a patrolman guarded the building awaiting the arrival of reserves in the radio cars.

Stright, on opening the store at 8 a. m., detected the Negro and summoned a beat patrolman. While the policeman guarded the front door, Stright summoned other officers, and when they arrived searched the place. No person was found, and the officers were about to leave when Stright discovered $25 missing from the cash register.

A further search showed the Negro had broken a cellar partition and entered the drug store through a trap door and had evidently made his exit the same way.

The Rev. George J. Buck, 74, of 7605 Hamilton avenue, a Baptist minister and for the last 11 years a tipstaff in Common Pleas Court, died last night in Columbia Hospital. He was a member of the Union Baptist Church, Carrick, and was stricken with cerebral hemorrhage while delivering a sermon there Sunday morning.

He was born in Rochester, N. Y., and held pastorates in Butler County, Sharpsburg and Turtle Creek. He was a member of the Fort Pitt Council, United Commercial Travelers. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at the Homewood Baptist Church, where the body will lie in state from noon to 2 p. m. Burial will be in Mt. Royal Cemetery. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Virginia Smallwood Buck; a daughter, Mrs. Mary B. Gray, of Williamsburg, and a son, John Buck, of Homewood.

'Y' Gives Program For New Year's Day

A program of athletic and social events, a luncheon for boys and a family dinner, will feature the New Year's celebration Friday at the Downtown Y. M. C. A. A concert by the Oberlin College Glee Club will be given in the evening. The fete terminates the successful membership campaign during which more than 500 names were added to the membership rolls.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SHANGHAI, Dec. 30.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Got the usual father's or husband's Christmas present from my wife with this card: "You can go to China or Manchuria but you can't escape the Christmas handkerchief." Get this: Have had a date to interview three different high government officials and they were all kicked out before I got to 'em. China is the only country in the world strong enough to have withstood 50 years of misgovernment in a row. But it keeps right on being just China.

Yours, WILL.

Fined in Theft Of $27 in Quarters

Arrested in a downtown bus station after a description had been broadcast by radio, William Bayton, 24, private stationed at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland, was fined $25 in Central Police Court today when he admitted taking $27 in quarters from Lloyd Macmeriad, 25, in a downtown hotel. Macmeriad was ordered held until police could find an explanation for the number of 25-cent pieces in his room.

Mother Again Asks Police Find Son

A heartbroken mother today appealed again to the Missing Persons Bureau for aid in finding her son, who disappeared from his home at 831 Second street, Verona, four months ago. Describing him as being five feet tall and weighing 120 pounds, the mother, Mrs. Olive Snair said the boy, William, was aged 14, has blue eyes, dark hair and a scar on the top of his head.

CHIEFS TO ASK 262 BE KEPT AT WORK

Fear for Pension Funds If Edict Stands; Month Off Favored by Men Affected

Heads of the police and fire bureaus were to appear in City Council this afternoon and suggest a 10 per cent flat reduction in wages over the entire police and fire payroll, rather than the elimination of 162 policemen and 100 firemen.

This decision was reached following a conference of Director James M. Clark, of the Department of Public Safety; Supt. Peter P. Walsh, of the Bureau of Police, and Chief Richard L. Smith, of the Bureau of Fire.

FIREMEN MEET

At the same time 300 night shift firemen met and decided to refer the entire wage question to their arbitration committee, of which John Heinz is chairman. The day firemen will meet tonight at Moose Temple and will be asked to concur in the action of the night men. Sentiment is strongly against the payroll reduction, but it is understood the firemen are willing to accept the month's furlough.

The proposed action of the heads of the police and fire bureaus in suggesting a 10 per cent cut in wages is apparently unauthorized by a vote of the rank and file, but was made after a series of conferences with police and firemen.

Director Clark said:

"I will take the responsibility myself and suggest to Council the 10 per cent cut rather than the dismissing of 262 men."

FEAR FOR PENSIONS

Both the police and firemen's pension funds will be bankrupt in a few years if the payroll reduction is carried through as Council has planned it, Director Clark revealed. He declared that heavy drains within the last year have hit the police pension fund hard. He pointed out that $30,000 has been cut out of the city's appropriation for that fund, that no police field meet was held this year and that pensions have been increased 22 per cent by action of the Police Pension Fund organization. A reduction in the rate of interest paid by the banks on deposits has reduced pension revenues.

Declaring that Council's action in demoting 100 pumpmen and 111 drivers will seriously cripple the Pittsburgh fire department and is unfair, Heinz, president of the City Firemen's Protective Association, went on record against Council's action. Heinz said:

"We do not object to the month's furlough, but we do object to the crippling of the department by the demotion. The demotion means a reduction of approximately $180 a year to pumpmen and $84 a year to drivers. With this loss of pay we are not willing to assume the responsibilities involved in the positions."

Walsh characterized the councilmanic action as one that "constitutes a serious menace to public safety and is anything but wise economy."

Thirty-two street men will be all that will be left at each police station, it was said, while fire officials intimated that certain stations might have to be abandoned. Pension fund surpluses will be wiped out, they said.

Fined $10 in Urging Dog to Attack Child

John Blasko, 50, of 2322 Holt street, was fined $10 or 10 days in the Mt. Washington Police Court after police testified he had urged a dog to attack a neighbor's child. The child, Paul Pack, 11, of 13 Holt street, was bitten on the hip and treated at South Side Hospital. Blasko was charged with disorderly conduct.

Masontown Group To Seek Bank Charter

MASONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 30.—Formation of a state bank, capitalized at $25,000, is planned here. Harry Lewellyn, A. B. Gault and Donald M. Higbee will appear in Harrisburg January 20 for hearing on a charter application. At present, Masontown is without banking facilities.

Firemen Curb Blaze In Clark Building

Two downtown fire companies answered a still alarm for fire in the basement of the Clark Building, Liberty avenue, early today. The blaze was confined to a rubbish pile and was extinguished without any loss.

Pittsburgh Ripley Star Breaks Own Record

E. L. Blystone, 44, of 306 Fifth avenue, named by Ripley as a member of his most curious "Believe-It-or-Not" aggregations, because of his practice of writing letters on rice grains, claimed today to have bettered the record that attracted Ripley's attention.

Ripley marveled when he received a missive of 1,600 letters written on a rice grain from Blystone. Since then Blystone has engraved 2,000 letters on another grain.

Formerly a railroad company employe, Blystone has been employed as an expert penman since 1914. Then he produced his first "rice missive." It had 454 letters. Since then he has engraved grains for John D. Rockefeller, Charles Schwab, the Prince of Wales, King of England, Gov. Gifford Pinchot and many others.

Boy Steals Auto From Fiancee's Parents

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Not having an automobile, Edward Hansen, 19, was embarrassed every time he called on his fiancee, Lena Thomas, 19. But one day he proudly drove up to the Thomas home in a shiny black car. Next day he was arrested for speeding. Check of the engine number revealed that his shiny black car was none other than the [illegible] Thomas family automobile which had been stolen. Today Edward was under a year's probated sentence.

LABOR SCORES LEGISLATURE

HARRISBURG, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Stinging denunciation of the special session of the Legislature for the defeat of "every constructive plan submitted by the Governor," was voiced today by the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor. The statement was made public coincident with the adjournment of both houses.

The Federation warned that the fight to secure relief must go on. The statement added:

"We shall use every effort to bring about that end, and we shall include a demand upon Congress, through the American Federation of Labor, for federal appropriations to supplement the sums that may be raised in the state and in local communities for direct relief."

The federation charged that politics and prejudice were the controlling factors determining life or death for legislation. National politics were not overlooked in the mad desire to serve political masters to the neglect of the rights of our citizenship.

The statement concluded:

"As to the members of the General Assembly who have failed in their duty, we leave them to their constituents with the belief that they should be relegated to that political oblivion which is due them for services not rendered."

State Police Seize $100,000 Rum Cargo

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 30.—(INS.)—A $100,000 liquor cargo was held by New Jersey and Pennsylvania state troopers today and five men were under arrest as the result of a "tip" assumed to have come from rival bootleggers.

The troopers seized the rum laden boat in the Delaware River near Morrisville, N. J. It was believed to be proceeding here.

AWAIT MURRAY HAT IN '32 RING

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 30.—(AP)—The black slouch hat of Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray may go sailing into the presidential ring any time now although it hung unconcernedly today on the gubernatorial hatrack.

The Democratic state executive committee informed by Ed Semans that Murray desired an early state convention so he might enter the New Hampshire preferential primary March 8, carrying the indorsement of Oklahoma's delegation to the national convention, has acquiesced and set the state meeting for February 20.

But Murray is not doing any announcing himself on whether he will seek his party nomination. He said:

"I'll not announce whether I'll enter a primary until I announce I am a candidate for president."

He repeated that he wouldn't have the vice presidency because that official only "keeps his mouth shut and wears fine clothes."

Educator Lays Crime To High Officials

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Officers, practitioners and administrators of law in the United States were scientifically designated here today as among the chief causes for the excessively high murder rate of this nation. Their contributions to this most serious form of lawlessness were described by Prof. Kenneth E. Barnhart, of Birmingham-Southern College, in a paper read before the social economic section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Aimee's Manager, 'No Yes Man,' Fired

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—(AP)—David Hutton, husband of Aimee [illegible] had succeeded E. C. Winters, who [illegible] Semple McPherson, has become, it was announced, will remain as business manager of the evangelist's Angelus Temple.

A new sign on the temple doors served as public notice that he [illegible] Winters said later, however, that he is through at the temple and had been dismissed because he was "not a yes man."

The Year is Going Let Him Go

He wasn't a very good year anyway. It's time we had a new one. Our 1932 resolution is the same as it was in 1859—to make it possible for more families to obtain good food at low prices.

If you chose us as your grocer during 1931, please accept our thanks. If you didn't, it's too late now to do anything about it—but the Manager of your nearest A & P store has an excellent suggestion for starting the new year right. Just mention our name.

Wherever you buy your groceries, we hope you have a very happy 1932.

Is Still Here With a New Supply of Her Glorious

"HONEYBUNCHES"

By popular demand the distribution will continue until after the opening of the New Year to satisfy the little girls who were unable to finish the little task the Doll Lady gave them in time to get a "Honeybunch" for Christmas.

"Honeybunch" will be just as welcome a playmate for New Year's as she was for Christmas. Little girls who still want one will get a letter from the Doll Lady if they will fill in and mail the coupon in this announcement.

Easy to Get!
No Money to Collect!

WELFARE DRIVE GAINS $11,000 IN WEEK

Fund $520,000 Short of Goal; Emergency Needs Now Exceed Estimates

With a gain of $11,000 reported for the past week, the total of the campaign of the Welfare Fund and Allegheny County Emergency Association is $5,462,864, nearly $520,000 short of the goal.

Declaring that emergency needs have grown far in excess of the $6,000,000 estimated, leaders pointed out that the total allotted to cover operations in November was $499,233.53, and that expenditures for December would be $476,274.36, with additional allotments for new agencies including the Jewish Federation, the Catholic Conference, Zoar Home and the Y. M. C. A. in January.

This, together with further expansion of the employment program, will bring monthly expenditures to more than half a million dollars—the maximum monthly amount on which the fund can carry through the year within its budget, leaders said.

Nearly 18,000 families were under the care of the four major family agencies in the Welfare Fund December 1; it was pointed out, breaking the record set a year ago.

MINER READS BIBLE 33 TIMES

A Scotch Presbyterian coal miner, W. N. Hamilton, 59, of Export, Pa., has read the Bible through from beginning to end 33 times. Once he read the New Testament in 13 hours. Another time he read the whole Bible in 56 hours. He said yesterday:

Mr. Hamilton

"There are 777,746 words in the Bible. Multiply this by 33, and I have read more than 25,000,000 words from the Bible. There are 3,566,480 letters in the Bible, 31,173 verses, 1,189 chapters and 66 books. The word 'reverend' occurs only once, in Psalm 111, ninth verse. The longest verse is the ninth verse of the eighth chapter of Esther. The shortest is the thirty-fifth verse of the eleventh chapter of John."

Hamilton was born in Scotland. He has been a coal miner more than 40 years.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

Mood of the Moment

THIS IS the time of the year when every columnist in every city in every state must say something about the dying year. If you do not comment on the season and offer some resolutions of your own, you are in danger of being expelled from the columnists' union. And that doesn't appeal to me at the moment.

Accordingly I might as well fashion such a column right here and now. The sooner it's done and out of the way, the better we'll all feel. The column, then, will be in three parts: why the year was unusual, what I hope the New Year will bring, and—as a sort of dessert—some prophecies for the coming year. I trust you will be able to digest the dessert.

A hat was stolen in a Los Angeles department store and the police failed to suspect the hand of Al Capone.

A columnist in Milwaukee, Wis., failed to write an article in which he said he loved his dog.

* * *

Among the things I trust will happen in the New Year are:

That some millinery expert will return women's hats to normalcy and not permit them to sit on the top of the head like a peanut.

That Greta Garbo will get married.

That one or two prizefighters are developed who are actually willing to go in and prizefight.

That garlic will be distributed to barbers only by government permit.

That somebody will come along and stop the columnists from turning out columns like this.

That morons who chirp, "It's great weather for ducks" and "Is it hot enough for you?" will be thrown into solitary confinement for 20 years.

That somebody will appoint an investigating committee to investigate what becomes of investigating committees.

That no attorney will be permitted to sue on a bill that a customers has been able to dodge successfully for six months.

* * *

And now for some prophecies for the coming year. I do not guarantee them by any means, but it's even money that they will eventually come to pass. So:

Forty-eight judges in 48 states will give interviews on how to deal with marriage problems from the bench. They will tell the public just why they have been successful in straightening matters between husbands and wives and give their rules for marital success. The 48 judges will be bachelors.

Peggy Joyce will marry again. Peggy Joyce will be divorced again.

Florenz Ziegfeld will announce that, because of the cost involved, he will never produce another Follies. During the summer, Mr. Ziegfeld will produce another Follies.

There will be 71 new Broadway columns, each of them containing exactly the same material. The 71 new Broadway Columnists will then fight with each other about who first wrote the line, "Mayme Glutz and Joe Fingernail are being seen together." Readers will write in and complain to the editors. As a result, in 1933, there will be 171 new Broadway columnists.

Any number of committees will investigate football conditions and hit the front pages when they tell the world that the football situation is deplorable. They will point out that colleges are buying players and and that these things cannot go on. The various committees will then go out and root like the devil for their favorite teams.

Thus does the game go on and on. The least I can do at the end of this column is to extend the greetings of the season. Good luck to you, my friends . . . . . .

OBITUARY

Schnorr Funeral.

Funeral services for Adam H. Schnorr, 32, who died Monday at his home, 1708 West Liberty avenue, will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., at the Beinhauer mortuary, 2630 West Liberty avenue. He was a salesman for Rieck-McJunkin Dairy Company, and was a member of Germania Lodge No. 59, F. and A. M., and Islam Grotto. He leaves his widow, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schnorr, and a sister, Mrs. Marie Geyer. Burial will be in West Liberty Cemetery.

Meenan Funeral.

Funeral services for Patrick J. Meenan, 55, of 1132 Jancey street, who died Tuesday, will be held in St. Raphael's Catholic Church, Saturday morning. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. He was born in Ireland and came to Pittsburgh when a boy. For many years he operated a garage at Fifty-fifth and Butler streets. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ellen Gallaghen Meenan, and five sons, James, Joseph, Francis, John and Thomas.

Murray Funeral.

Funeral services will be held in Pittsburgh for Mrs. Jane Fulton Murray, daughter of the late Thomas C. and Margaret Magee Fulton, who died at her home in White Bear Lake, Minn., Mrs. Murray, a former Pittsburgher, leaves her husband, F. H. Murray, and a brother, Dr. Thomas C. Fulton.

INDEPENDENT BODY ELECTS

Officers of the Seventh Ward Independent organization were elected and plans for the spring primary were discussed at a meeting last night in the home of Mrs. Frank J. Boyle, 5504 Howe street. It was unanimously agreed to follow the leadership of County Commissioner C. C. McGovern and Commissioner-elect C. M. Barr.

Officers are: Chairman, J. Garfield Houston; vice chairman, Mrs. Boyle; secretary, D. W. Kinsey, and treasurer, Mrs. Olive Walker. They will meet in Houston's home, 116 Bazard place, East End, tonight, to set a date for a mass-meeting in about 10 days in Peabody High School.

The Seventh Ward group is practically the same as the one that met May 21 in Peabody High School and began the independent movement that resulted in the re-election of C. C. McGovern and the election of other county and city officers.

Mrs. Boyle said that candidates would be supported for the Republican City and County Committees; a United States Senator, a State Treasurer and a State Auditor General, and Allegheny County members of the 1933 General Assembly.

EAST LIBERTY CLUB ADOPTS NEW PLAN

Membership Now Divided Into 4 Groups With Each Having One Branch of Work

The entire membership of the East Liberty Woman's Club has been divided into four groups, each having a distinct responsibility. Under the new plan of work, the club will more nearly approach the State Federation system of activity. Mrs. Mary Walter will serve as chairman of the American citizenship department; Mrs. E. E. Corner, of the home department; Mrs. A. F. Earnest, of the welfare department, and Miss Mabel Kepple, of the department of education and fine arts.

Mrs. H. B. Nicholson is the new chairman of the social committee. Mrs. Ira W. Marshall will head the ways and means committee. Edward Ettle acting as community service chairman.

Miss Kepple's department will present the April program on which D. Edwin Miller, principal of Peabody High School, will be the speaker. Mrs. Rollins A. Haddock Jr. is completing her fifth year as president of the club.

* * *

Miss Thompson

The annual election and Christmas luncheon of the Norcross Club will be held in the Congress of Clubs on Monday at 12:30 o'clock. The program will be by Mrs. Elmer Placcus, contralto; Mrs. Walter Close, reader, and Mrs. William D. James, accompanist. Reservations are going to Dr. Sue L. Taggart.

* * *

In the Waldorf-Astoria, where the Women's National Republican Club held its first annual luncheon 10 years ago, the 1932 luncheon will be held Saturday, January 9. Mrs. Clifton A. Verner and Mrs. C. C. Poling are taking reservations for the Pittsburgh members. Seating closes on Saturday of this week.

Annual Luncheon

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

PARIS, Dec. 30.—Still up to our ears in furs and enjoying it immensely. Really, we cannot understand why so many women object to winter and cold weather clothes. For sheer nothing else is so flattering or flatteringly becoming. Furthermore, [illegible]

THE MENTION of the second cloth coat brings to mind the many attractive models that are being shown this week. A brown [illegible]

A black coat as that pictured, [illegible]

FOR THOSE who are seeking somewhat different than the black coat we have shared a new model that is most interesting. Shown is a Panam model, one of his most successful. It is in a pebble woolen in dark taupe and has a huge collar and upper capelets bordered with choice blue fox fur. The under capelets form flattering three quarter sleeves.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

MEAT LOAF SUPREME—1½ pounds beef ground fine, ½ pound each of veal and pork ground fine, ¼ pound salt pork or bacon sliced, 1½ cupfuls crumbs, about ½ cupful warm milk, 1 egg beaten, 2 tablespoonfuls of salt, ¼ teaspoonful pepper, 1 teaspoonful onion juice, 3 tablespoonfuls prepared mustard.

Moisten crumbs with milk and add with the egg to the ground meat. Add seasonings and mustard and, if necessary, additional milk sufficient to hold the meat and lay slices of salt pork or bacon over the top. Bake in a hot oven in shape. Place in baking pan for about one hour, basting occasionally. If desired, 3 hard-boiled eggs may be added to loaf. They may be left whole (laid in so that in slicing they will be cut across), in halves or sliced. Arrange after loaf is partly shaped. May be served with tomato sauce if desired.

* * *

PEACH MELBA—6 peach halves, 6 slices of sponge cake or 1 dozen lady fingers, ¼ cup cranberry sherbets, ½ cup shredded coconut.

Line sherbet glasses with strips of the cake or split lady fingers. Place a halved peach in center of dish with cut side up. Fill cavity with cranberry sherbet. Sprinkle with shredded coconut. Serve six.

* * *

MAPLE PARFAIT—1 cup maple syrup, 3 eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 pint whipping cream, ½ cup nut meats, chopped fine.

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored in bowl. Add syrup and beat until mixed. Cook this mixture until thick. Allow to cool. Whip egg whites until they are stiff. Whip cream and add stiffly beaten whites. Fold this into egg yolk mixture. Place in tray of refrigerator to freeze.

* * *

TOMATO SAUCE—One-half can tomatoes or 1¼ cups fresh stewed tomatoes, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 slice onion, ½ tablespoon salt, 3 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon pepper. Cook onion with tomatoes for 15 minutes. Rub through a strainer and add to butter, flour and seasonings which have been cooked together. Blend and cook for 3 minutes, stirring constantly.

* * *

SOUR CREAM PIE—One and one-half cups sour cream, 2 egg yolks, ½ cup sugar, 1½ cups raisins, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon nutmeg. Mix flour, salt and spices and add cream to these. Beat eggs and add with sugar and raisins. Line a pie pan with pastry and fill with the mixture. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) 5 minutes. Lower to 350 degrees F. and bake 10 minutes more. Make a meringue by beating 3 egg whites and adding ½ cup of sugar. Spread on top and bake 15 minutes in moderate oven (325 degrees F.).

COFFEE CAKE—One cup milk, 1 cake yeast, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 cups flour, ¼ cup butter, 1 egg, ½ cup brown sugar, 1 cup chopped pecans, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons cinnamon.

Scald milk, cool until lukewarm. Dissolve yeast and 1 tablespoon sugar in the milk. Add 1 cup sifted flour, beat well, and let rise 45 minutes. Cream butter and brown sugar, and well beaten egg and beat thoroughly. Combine with sponge mixture. To this add remaining flour, pecans and salt, stirring until well mixed. Let rise until double in bulk. Roll one inch thick. Place in greased pan, brush with butter, sprinkle with sugar, cinnamon and pecans. Let rise until light and bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) three-quarters of an hour.

* * *

MACCAROON CREAM PUDDING—One pint whipping cream, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water, ¼ cup boiling water, 6 macaroons, ¼ pound sweet chocolate.

Dissolve gelatine in cold water, then add the boiling water and stir until dissolved. When cold add it to the cream whipped. Divide the mixture into two parts, and in one-half stir the grated sweet chocolate, and in the other half the broken macaroons. Put in a dish in layers and set in refrigerator for several hours to chill and harden.

* * *

Wipe the liver with a damp cloth. Remove skin and membrane. Dip liver in crumbs and then in the slightly beaten egg to which 1 tablespoon of water, the lemon juice and the seasoning have been added, then dip into crumbs again and fry in hot fat. Brown on both sides, reduce the temperature and cook slowly for 30 minutes. Serve with tomato or creole sauce. Serves five.

* * *

HOT SALMON LOAF—Two cups salmon, flaked, 1½ cups grated cheese, 1 egg, well beaten, 1 tablespoon melted butter, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, cracker or bread crumbs. Combine ingredients, using crumbs enough to make the mixture shape into a loaf. Put in a baking pan. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake in moderate oven until golden brown. Serve hot with egg sauce.

* * *

CHOCOLATE FLUFF FROSTING—Two and one-half cups sugar, dash of cinnamon, 4 ounces chocolate, ¾ cup water, 4 egg whites, well beaten, 20 marshmallows. Boil together the sugar, cinnamon and hot water until it spins a thread. Pour gradually over the well-beaten egg whites and then add the chocolate which has been melted over hot water. Beat until cold. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla and the marshmallows cut in quarters. Spread on the cake while it is warm, but not hot.

* * *

CHEESE PUFFS—2 eggs, 1 cup flour, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ⅛ teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, 1 cup grated cheese.

Beat eggs well and add milk. Sift together flour, baking powder and seasonings; add to milk and eggs, then add the cheese and beat well. Drop by spoonfuls into deep hot fat and fry until a golden brown. Drain thoroughly. Serve with powdered sugar or lemon sauce.

Wives Neglected Sometimes By Hardworking Men

Wives Holding Unemployed Jobs in Work Crisis Called Unfair by Fay King

By FAY KING.

Official statistics show that the percentage of women who are working has amazingly increased.

They have gone from the fields which seemed exclusively women's work and have dangerously invaded the precincts which seemed exclusively men's.

Nearly every girl now expects to work for a time whether she intends to marry or not or needs work or not.

Some are even so reluctant to give up their positions and salaries after marriage that many pretend to be single and self-supporting at the places where they are employed even after they have husbands who earn ample salaries to support a childless couple.

This is not exactly fair and it seems to me a problem to be dealt with in a crisis like the present.

One-Double Two-Three: The Double Demand System

A group of experts of the Knickerbocker Whist Club more than a year ago before there had been established The Official System found it more illuminating to employ an opening bid of 2-Clubs to disclose strength in three suits and to show that short suits were held, while also utilizing an opening bid of three of any suit to announce holding either a single very powerful suit or, more probably, a strong two-suiter. On account of using semi-demand bids of two in all suits except clubs and using a different species of two bid with clubs this optional way of bidding very powerful hands was called One-Double Two-Three Bidding. We will apply this style of bidding to the hand shown below (bid the other day by an opening bid of 3-Hearts).

Under One-Double Two-Three methods, Z's opening bid is 2-Clubs, to show strength in at least three suits and that short suits will be bid. Instead of responding with no-trumps, Y shows his best with an overall of a biddable suit with his re-2-Hearts, now Y discloses lack of a biddable suit with his response of 2-No Trumps. Z shifts to 3-Diamonds, which Y jumps to 5-Diamonds, to show that nothing can better fit his hand.

Exchange the cards of A and Y. The response to the opening 2-Clubs will be 3-Clubs (showing that Y has biddable clubs plus at least one quick trick). Z will bid 3-Hearts; knowing that the heart suit probably contains only four cards, Y will show great suit strength by bidding 4-Clubs, to which Z will respond with 4-No Trumps. Y will bid 5-Hearts, which Z will change to 5-No Trumps next. Y can show his ace of diamonds by bidding 6-Diamonds, that one will enable Z to bid 7-No Trumps.

Last of all return to A his original cards and then swap the holdings B and Y. Lacking a single quick trick or even a high honor in hearts, Y must overcall his partner's opening bid of 2-Clubs with 2-Diamonds, but when his partner shifts the negative response to 2-Hearts, knowing that nothing better can be done Y will raise the make to 3-Hearts. Z should then bid 3-No Trumps to reaffirm the fact that his hearts are short, but hearts suit Y better than no-trumps and he must bid 4-Hearts. You will note if you remember what happened the other day that in each case the final declaration comes out the same by both methods of bidding.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Question of Manners

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it correct to use sugar tongs when sugar is served with the sugar bowl? It is proper before the lumps with your fingers? I agree with you that it is easier to use the spoon.

A READER.

Sugar Tongs

Dear M. Beeckman:

Is it correct to take sugar [illegible] "I aren't." The correct way to say this is "I'm a golf professional . . . am I not?"

An English Expression

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it correct to use the word "Aren't" in a sentence in this manner: I'm a golf professional aren't I.

D. P.

No, this isn't correct even if our English cousins do use it. You see if you test it that this isn't correct for we can't say "I aren't." The correct way to say this is "I'm a golf professional . . . am I not?"

SO HE LISTENED TO HIS WIFE

Mr. HENRY G. ERDER

--- and got rid of his cough

Mr. Henry G. Erder of 4140 Fillmore St., St. Louis, drives a truck for a furniture company and, as he says, "six days a week, all day long, I'm outside in all kinds of weather. Sometimes I catch cold and get a pretty bad cough. My wife had used REM for herself and the children, and one day when I had a bad cough, she told me to try it. I bought a bottle at Kring's Drug Store, corner of S. Broadway & Lynch. Relief came right away. Now whenever a cough starts, I dont lose any time taking REM." REM's quick action in relieving a cough has delighted thousands. They won't take anything else--REM is that different! Next time you are bothered with a cough you'll know what to do for it.

Insist on REM-because it does the work

Insist on REM-because it's pleasant to take

Insist on REM-because it's perfectly harmless

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stock Gains Cut

Local Market Steady

EARLY MARKET GAINS MOSTLY ERASED

Realizing and Income Tax Selling Send Stocks Off; Carriers Hold; Sales Light

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP.) — Realizing sales and further selling for income tax purposes entered the stock market today after a morning of rising prices, and erased most of the earlier gains.

Railroad stocks were again leaders during the advance with Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, New York Central and Union Pacific advancing 1 to 2 points before selling developed. The carriers continued to hold better than industrials which were subject to considerable selling during the afternoon. Trading was light.

American Telephone which was sluggish on the advance, dipped more than a point net. Similar losses occurred in American Tobacco B, Eastman Kodak and Corn Products. United States Steel and a number of leading industrials fluctuated in narrow price range.

Wall street reverted favorably the announcement that a number of Southern Pacific operatives had voluntarily accepted a 10 per cent wage reduction.

Preliminary reports on Christmas retail business indicated that dollar volume of sales was lower than one year ago, but unit sales were as large if not larger. Department stores had fewer returns of goods during the past Christmas season than in 1931.

Power output for the week ended December 26 was 5.3 per cent under the same week of last year, an improvement over the previous week when production was 5.3 per cent under the corresponding 1930 period. The steel industry reported a gain of 2.8 per cent in production. In January, production is expected to the industry to advance fairly rapidly to levels prevailing just before the December decline set in.

The call money rate was increased to 3½ from 3 per cent.

Favors Insurance Firms Buying Common Stocks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 — An argument that life insurance companies should be permitted to use up to 15 per cent of their assets in purchasing common stocks was made here before the American Economic Association by Samuel H. Nerlove, of the University of Chicago. His argument was based on belief that the field for investments in farm mortgages and railroad bonds was narrowing and that over a long period income and safety of capital was afforded by common stocks.

STEEL OUTPUT UP SLIGHTLY

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 — Iron Age tomorrow will say: A partial resumption of steel plant operations has occurred at Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Wheeling, but the Chicago district, which had no sharp curtailment last week, is down to a 15 per cent ingot output largely offsetting the gains elsewhere. Nevertheless the average for the country is at 22 per cent of capacity against 21 per cent last week and a gain is indicated for the first week of January to approximately the rate in effect prior to the December decline.

Developments relieving another week-end are substantial orders for sheets and strip steel placed principally with mills at Detroit and Cleveland, increased specifications for bars from farm implement manufacturers in the Chicago district, a rise in fabricated structural steel lettings to 36,000 tons, making it the best week for such contracts since September and an inquiry from the Erie Railroad for its 1932 rail requirement, estimated at 40,000 tons.

Steel companies are making an effort to check the decline in prices. Chicago mills have announced an advance of $2 a ton on bars, plates and shapes to 1.70 cents a pound. Out-standing quotations of 1.40 cents a pound, Pittsburgh, on shapes have been withdrawn. The aim to re-establish a 1.60 cents Pittsburgh base for the heavy hot-rolled products for first quarter has not been abandoned.

Railroad Employes Accept Pay Cut

CHICAGO, Dec. 30 — Shop employes of Southern Pacific Railroad Company, numbering 15,600, have accepted a 10 per cent wage cut effective January 1.

Southern Pacific has notified maintenance of way employes of a 10 per cent cut of 15 per cent effective in 30 days.

Power Production Decrease Smaller

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 — Electric power output in the week ended December 26 decreased 3.3 per cent to 1,564,652,000 kilowatt hours. Production was also below that of the preceding week, though the decrease was small.

Stocks Strong on London Exchange

LONDON, Dec. 30 — (AP) — Stocks closed with a burst of strength on the London Exchange today. The pound sterling was steady at 3.29¼.

AYRES NOTES TRADE NEEDS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 — Five essential steps in a program for starting business recovery were described by Col. Leonard P. Ayres in an address before the joint meeting of the American Statistical Association.

Col. Ayres listed these five requirements which he termed prerequisite to recovery:

Recognition of the fact that deflation of commodity and security prices and of loans has gone far enough to make a turn possible.

The Federal Reserve System should be granted broad emergency powers to pursue a liberal credit policy, including the power to rediscount bonds of the new reconstruction finance corporation.

Congress should quickly adopt a definite budget and let the Treasury inform the bankers as to the amount of federal long-term financing that must be done this year.

Byllesby Adding To Corporate Funds

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30 — H. M. Byllesby & Co. is acquiring new corporate capital by the sale of 100,000 additional shares of preferred stock. The stock will be sold at $25 a share and will carry warrants entitling holders to exchange the stock for Class A shares up to and including November 30, 1941.

Year-end influences continued to dominate the trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange. The dealings encompassed a broader list of securities, but there was no concentration of activity in any particular issue.

Among the usually active industrials and their prices, Lone Star Gas moved a shade steadier to firm in the broader market, as did Armstrong Cork, which was down around a point a little further on balance.

Independent Brewing Asks Interest Moratorium

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE REQUEST OF THE Independent Brewing Company that bondholders agree to a suspension of interest payments until July 1, 1933, reflects the continued large losses reported by the organization and the accentuated effects of current business conditions.

Independent Brewing reported a loss of $187,283 after interest, taxes and depreciation in the year ended September 30, 1931. This compared with losses of $124,963 in the previous year; $115,121 in the 1929 fiscal year and $152,691 in the 1928 year.

The organization's activities since prohibition have been confined to the manufacture of near beer. It has not attempted to develop new types of business as many other brewing companies have done. The results shown in recent years indicate that the company's business activities under present legal conditions are not particularly promising. Activities in the soft drink field have not been in sufficient proportions to provide the company with a large enough gross income to produce a profit.

Interest Due January 1

INTEREST ON THE first gold 6s, which constitute the only funded debt, will fall due on January 1. The balance sheet of September 30 showed $1,634,000 of these outstanding after deducting bonds held in the sinking fund. The bonds will mature July 1, 1955.

Nevis Dislikes Environment But She Refuses to Complain

CHAPTER XI

Nevis and Bill were, of course, thrown much together. Yet, thought Nevis, as the weeks went by, they didn't seem to draw much closer, save for self-protection. She was always pretty tired and Bill was dead. By 7 o'clock every night he was in bed. He had ridden off his saddle soreness, but he had an excellent dose of chronic malaria before May came in. And in May there were rains and floods and in June there were hurricanes. . . . "nothing to what we get when September comes," Mrs. Jones consoled Nevis, who, shivering, regarded a saffron yellow sky and an unnatural calm with terror.

There were also rats and Bubonic plague, a distant city caused a grim sort of feeling of depression when Nevis stood on the back porch and watched the rats walking over the telegraph wires.

White, stinging dust. Palms, listless in moonlight. White roads and ox-carts. Barefooted natives. Blind beggars, beggars covered with sores, beggars coughing in the last stages of tuberculosis.

But fields of cane and sunsets of glory and soft-breasted mountains upheaving toward the sky, leaning forward one another in the attitude of weary wives. And not far off, a calm and blue-green sea like a great feather dropped from a mammoth peacock's tail.

Tired people. People wanting to get away, to get back home. People who couldn't. People caught there year after year. Little American babies, yellow, purple circles under their eyes, babies drinking coffee three times a day as a necessary stimulant, babies with infected hands and faces due to digging in the dirt as babies must, but dirt which was heavy and dangerous with the carelessness of human beings who had worked in it for over 200 years.

Malaria

The food was expensive and it was terrible. Steaks which boiled for hours before you could set your teeth in them; few vegetables and not much fruit, and what there was brought in carts exposed to the broiling sun; no water to milk fit to drink without boiling, lots of canned food of exorbitant prices and, of course, fruit.

Gossip. Rumor. Back-biting. The quarrelsome ex-Roman-holiday-himself attitude of a handful of people involuntarily flung together for society. Cabal and underground rumblings. Speculations of salaries, private income, graft, bribes. And always the talk about sugar, the effect the new tariff would have, the possibility of sugar stock falling even lower, the possibility of a wage cut.

Anxiety.

BILL BECOMES RESTLESS

"Lord," sighed Nevis, trailing about her house barefooted, "what wouldn't I give for a snowstorm. Or to feel peppy again!"

She stopped in a white-painted rather cockeyed mirror and regarded herself, yellow, dark circles under her eyes, hair damp, tight curled with heat, an old summer dress slipped on over very little else. "I'm getting," she thought frantically, "like the rest of them," and rushed to the shower to seek the momentary refreshment of tepid water flowing over her naked body, and rushed from the shower to the bureau drawers and closets to search frantically for fresh fragrant linen for a chiffon dress, before tying an apron over it, she would help the lymphatic Anna with Bill's supper. But by the time Bill came in again she was dripping once more and her little chintz curls crammed to her head.

Of course they had malaria. Everyone had it. Why not?

She wrote to Della. Tell 'em back home that at any rate I haven't seen any snakes.

But she never complained. She said, hopelessly, if I get Bill into this I won't kick.

She made such friends as were possible. The Jones family, one or two of the bachelors always glad to come to her house and stretch their tired legs under a table and argue that as they didn't know anything but sugar they might as well be here, or in Santa Domingo or some other place, as back home. She rallied on the women, essayed a failure of a luncheon or two and then gave it up as a bad job. "They're suspicious of me," she told Bill. "I don't know why." And Bill said gloomily, "It's rotten for you. Look here, I'm not getting anything out of this. They've got to put me to work where I'll learn something. Perhaps they are afraid I will. I never in my life saw people so darned worried about jobs."

HOSPITAL PATIENTS

He wrote to Walter Mason. Shortly afterwards he was transferred to the factory settlement, 30 miles away over the mountains.

It was a temporary transfer. They left their house as it was, and went over to reside in the guest house, a stone edifice up 60 stone steps with a mountain at its back and looking down over the horseshoe curve of the bay from which the odor of sugar waste was never absent, an odor which had the sulphuric acid smell somewhere among its essential components and which turned the coins in your pocket black.

There are vats, boils of something called a restaurant which was run for the bachelors and guests. They spent each of them a couple of days in the hospital on the bay, listening the heroic and unpleasant treatment for acute malaria, and then called no less at the home of the chief executive, an entirely beautiful and magnificently run place with as many servants and servants and comforts as they might have obtained back in Westchester.

And days-times Nevis read or sat on the verandas and looked over the bay and wondered. She thought a lot. About herself. About Bill. About Harry Carter, who seemed very far away, just then. Everyone seemed far away. She and Bill were isolated as close together as people must be who depend upon each other for all the friendship and affection and entertainment and mutual comprehension they are going to get out of the particular set of circumstances they call their life, yet not close enough to acknowledge that they are no happier than they had ever been.

Too tired. Too sick most of the time, too worried, because insensibly they had come into the general aura of anxiety which surrounded them.

Then an expert in sugar making came down from the states. A man who had been at Bill's university several years before Bill. A good looking man with a roving eye and a happy indifference to everyone he met except the Lancasters.

Harrison's a corker. Bill reported, and Nevis put on her best bib and tucker and he ate at their table and came up to see her afternoons. He got off a good deal earlier than Bill, who was working in an atmosphere of a couple of hundred degrees Fahrenheit, from six in the morning to about six in the evening.

This man talked their language. Nevis thought idiotically, isn't it funny how there's nothing like a strange attractive man to make you mind your lingerie straps and the runs in your stockings? But she couldn't buy many new stockings, not on a hundred and twenty-five a month.

And Harrison said: "You're the first white woman I wanted to talk to down here."

There were dances at the little club. And a trip or two in the car allotted Harrison. And one day Bill came home to find Harrison holding Nevis' hand and telling her that his wife had never understood him and that was why she was going to divorce him after a while.

There was something of a scene. Nevis thought, watching . . . this just couldn't have happened back home. But semi-tropic heat and work in a more than tropic temperature shortens a man's temper. And Bill was ugly and insulting and Harrison was smooth and sneery. And Harrison had a lot of influence.

The invitations from the Crars and their wives ceased. Bill was given a harder job. Harrison moved to another table and later disappeared from the picture. But Bill was inclined to blame Nevis.

"I thought you wanted to come here to get away from all that sort of thing," he told her. He cast Carter, not literally, in her teeth. "I thought" said Bill bitterly, "that you wanted to be alone with me. To make something of our marriage. And then I catch you flirting with the first white man who comes your way who appears decently bred and educated and knows how to tie a bow tie," finished Bill absurdly.

She said: "I didn't flirt with him Bill. He just talked. Oh, I know he held my hand. I didn't care. I didn't even know he was holding it until you called it to his and my attention. 'You were comic.' 'Let go my wife's hand,' you ordered in a voice that would carry to Ponce. No. I didn't know. It's too darned hot. I'm too tired all the time. I don't care who holds my hand," she said childishly, "that sort of thing doesn't mean anything."

They couldn't afford to quarrel long. They were, after all, too dependent upon each other. And Bill didn't say the one thing she had dreaded. "Well, who suggested we come here?" except by indirection. They kissed and made up and things went on as usual. Except that there were not as many calls paid on the newcomers in the guest house and that at the dances the bachelors who had rumors, fought for her dance card and that a very special executive, arriving from New York made a remark to Nevis at one of the dances, which Bill overheard, and for which the executive would have taken a swift, cooling little flier into the nearby bay had it not been for two of Bill's friends who held him, cursing, back, out on a balcony.

For Bill had made friends. He always did. Nice, homesick young men who thought with a nostalgic wistfulness of the North, and sweated their hearts out trying to get somewhere to a place which would lead them back again.

When the novelty of strange and beautiful surroundings, strange and unlike food, and even stranger discomforts had worn off, Nevis found herself with more time on her hands than she had ever had, and nothing to do with it. She read all the ancient books in the library and devoured those with which Della and Daisy Howard and one or two other people sent down to her. She developed into a ready letter writer and wrote home to her family and to the Westlyners by every mail. Batch Dorgan had Della wrote her, married his girl. "How long it will last," commented Della in her almost illegible handwriting, "is a matter for conjecture."

There were, of course, people on the island who lived in a more or less civilized fashion, visitors who came down for a winter, took a little house in the mountains where it was always cool, imported servants and food and lived much as they might live in New York. Now and then Bill and Nevis met such a household people whom they already knew slightly or who had come down armed with letters of introduction to them. Upon those occasions they dressed, borrowed a company car, motored to some low stone house riotous with covering bloom, ate by candle light at a long table and discussed life back home, what shows are on, what is everyone reading, over tall frosted drinks. "I mixed this one," their host pro tem would say, beaming happily, "with fresh pineapple and lime juice. Boy, it's a Paradise for a bar tender!"

But even fresh limes and pineapples pall and Nevis, long before they came to the factory settlement, had ceased to be enthralled over the prospect of picking bananas from her own trees, and never, as long as she lived in Porto Rico, did she develop a taste for mangoes . . . they were flavored, said Nevis, all freely flowing juice and grimaces of disgust, "exactly like turpentine."

Once they went to the local hot springs which had wet heat, sulphur water and magnificent ferns to recommend it. And once, over a Sunday, obtaining a brief vacation, they motored to San Juan, a hair-raising experience, and after spending the night at the hotel returned the next day. Nevis with a magnificent case of ptomaine poisoning and a touch of malaria into the bargain. But scenically the trip had been worth it. Hair-pin curves and riding above the clouds, fields of tobacco below them covered in the gauze netting which made them look like patches of show, water flowing from sheer rock and ferns growing.

The social life of the settlement went on: dinners now and then, a trip to the movies, a dance. Homesick boys telling Nevis about the girl back home and becoming sentimental after four drinks; older men, with sallow, malaria-ridden, shapeless wives, trying to get her into dark corners; men still older with half a lifetime of service in the company trying to find out how close Bill really was to the Powers-that-be and wondering if he couldn't say just a word at headquarters in their behalf. Occasional inspection trips which brought executives from New York, their smart wives, and smarter daughters, down to be entertained royally at the houses and hotels; trips which whirled them through the Island at top speed and permitted them to see nothing of the misery and suffering of the native quarters.

Synopsis

Nevis and Bill Lancaster were supremely happy until Bill became successful selling bonds and they started living beyond their means. Nevis sees little of him and she longs for the simple life they led when first married. Then Bill meets Olive Blanchard, who tries in vain to alienate his affections. Although Bill sees much of Olive and enjoys her company, he loves Nevis. Nevis, however, believes the affair is serious when she reads a poem which Olive sent to Bill. Piqued, she accepts the attentions of Harry Carter, a prominent architect. Bill is jealous, but when Nevis offers to give up Carter if he does Olive, he refuses. Their relations become strained. Carter tells Nevis he loves her and cannot go on without her. Nevis is stunned when Bill tells her their friends, Fluff and Les Waterford, are separating. Nevis, picturing the same end for Bill and herself, is perturbed. Bill realizes Nevis still cares for him when she asks him to take her away. Bill loses heavily in the stock market crash. Nevis decides to go to Porto Rico with Bill when he is offered a job on a sugar plantation. Their friends unite in giving them a farewell party.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Schenley Chapter continues to be one of the most enthusiastic in the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club. Last Saturday's meeting was full of pep. Troop No. 55, Boy Scouts of America, with their buglers, took a prominent part in the program and several numbers were given by members of the club.

TAMPA NEXT

OTHER ACTS

"The Candy Man Who Grows Tall," a novelty act, is now making a tour of the Junior Komic Club Chapters. Last Saturday he appeared at the Harris Theater, Etna, and the children fairly "ate him up." Next Saturday "The Candy Man Who Grows Tall," who is appearing through the courtesy of the D. L. Clark Company, will appear at the Plaza Chapter meeting.

Another attraction that will soon be seen at your own theater is Mascara, a magician. He has been announced for the Harris (Etna) and the Rowland (Wilkinsburg) chapter meetings Saturday, January 2.

DAVIS CHAPTER

This chapter formerly met at the Harris (Diamond street) Theater, but since moving into their new home at the Davis Theater renewed enthusiasm has resulted. Milton M. Warren, manager, [illegible] conducted the meeting Saturday with the grand jester and board of governors of the chapter on the stage. Rulers were given to every child who attended the meeting and Mr. Warren promised lots of fun and a big surprise for Saturday.

CAMERAPHONE CHAPTER

The orchestra, made up of members of the Cameraphone Chapter, furnished plenty of good music for the meeting. They not only accompanied the stage acts, but contributed seven numbers of their own. Three banjoists who have been entertaining Schenley Chapter for the past few weeks visited the Cameraphone Saturday and got a big hand.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

The following members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club were born on New Year's Eve—not so many years ago. The club wishes them many happy returns of the day.

Hearst Plan Indorsed

The Pennsylvania House of Representatives Resolution Should Spur Congress

Adoption by the House of Representatives at Harrisburg of Representative M. A. Musmanno's resolution calling on Congress to approve a bond issue of $5,000,000,000 for public works to relieve unemployment is impressive, even though the Senate should fail to act.

This is the plan sponsored by William Randolph Hearst, and the Sun-Telegraph, representing Pittsburgh in the great Hearst organization, is naturally proud that the proposal has won approval.

The special session has not been quite so sterile as it was up to the time of the passage by the House of the Musmanno resolution.

We have here at least a definite recommendation for a course of action which not only would go a long way towards improving economic conditions in Pennsylvania, but would benefit the whole nation.

Thank you, Mr. Musmanno, for your vigorous championing of this measure.

Bright Spots in Budget

Restoration of Modest Appropriations for Welfare Work Is Consoling.

There can be no denying that the wage cuts and dismissals ordered by City Council in the preparation of the budget have made the set-up for next year an unattractive proposition to a multitude of municipal employes.

But there are some bright spots in the business, too, and they should not be overlooked.

There is some consolation for the cessation of certain worth-while activities in the restoration to the budget of modest appropriations for welfare work which Council had at first decided to eliminate.

Social workers and all others who approve of humanitarian activities will be glad to note that the Mental Health Clinic and the Bureau for the Handicapped are to be allowed to continue to function.

Council has had a difficult task in the problem of cutting the tax rate without crippling the public service. On the whole it has done a creditable job.

Some New Year's Duties

A Good Resolution Would Be to Comply Promptly With the State's Requirements.

News from the state government offices at Harrisburg has to do in large part with civic duties that the citizens are now being called upon to perform.

Benjamin G. Eynon, commissioner of motor vehicles, again calls attention to the fact that hundreds of thousands of motorists have not yet obtained their 1932 license plates. If you are going to a New Year's Eve party, he grimly remarks, be sure your car is equipped with the new tags, as otherwise you may start the New Year in a police station.

Gov. Gifford Pinchot calls on motorists, in a proclamation, to have their cars officially inspected. It is compulsory. The inspection period begins on January 1 and ends on March 31.

Faithful Teachers

The Pensions Granted Veterans of the Public Schools Are Well Earned.

A routine report from the School Employes' Retirement Board lists the names of 13 employes who have been granted retirement allowances. Some have served in the public schools of Pennsylvania as long as 47 years.

In the list are Elizabeth D. Fairley and Florence A. Jones, of Pittsburgh; W. R. Wesley, of Pitcairn, and Tenia Zanatdelli, of Monongahela City.

A Wise Decision

County Commissioners Are Doing the Right Thing in Leaving the Tunnel Project to the New Board.

The decision of the County Commissioners to let the new board pass on the plan to purchase the Wabash Bridge and Tunnel calls for commendation.

It shows a disposition to give the citizens a square deal, to let both the advocates and the opponents of the project have a hearing, and so to protect the best interests of the county.

It is but fair, too, to the new commissioners, who, if the scheme should be finally approved, will have the responsibility for putting it into effect.

There are two sides to the question, and both sides should be considered before conclusive action is taken.

Economics Is an Interesting Study, and, of Course, One Of the Most Important.

The meeting of the Economic Congress of Allegheny County at Carnegie Lecture Hall Monday night was scantily attended, which led one of the speakers to condemn the labor unions, the Allied Boards of Trade and the League of Women Voters for their lack of interest.

Economics is still rather a forbidding subject to many. It used to be called "the dismal science."

It is no longer a dismal study. On the contrary under good teachers it is interesting. And, of course, it is one of the most important things that can be studied.

The Economic Congress, which has for its purpose not the study of abstruse matters but the things that directly affect the economic welfare of the people of Allegheny County in their everyday affairs, deserves support.

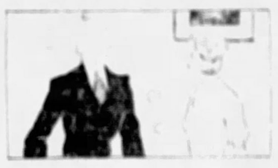
Love Laughs at Joksmiths

Now that locksmith has any money there are ... where of the ... quaint old emotion called ... Love—not as sex ... as a bad joke—but as love itself, appears to be coming back into fashion.

Nevertheless ... are ... many of the poets at present writing and poets who confess to make a life-work of debunking love. A new farce ... permanent Pat Henry does its best to prove that love is just a menace ... spoils a man's whole life.



Most of the popular wordsters including Hoffenstein, Dorothy Parker, Selma Robinson and lots of the newspaper columnists are of the ... [illegible] that ... was ... to ... school.

You know the refrain from the Love Ann House ... song school. As a result poet ... Mirthful ... has been traded in for a ... and "Chee-sagh" for Hatcheshacha.

Shut the door behind you.
If I want you back again
I'll know where to find you.
Button up your overcoat,
Or don't—It's little to me.
Write the Times a note,
If you prefer to use me.

Oh well, Byron and Tom Moore and their contemporaries did a little of that sort of thing long, long ago in the ... days when palpitant young ladies pressed forget-me-nots between the leaves of their books.

Take this hotshot from Tom Moore, if you like. I think I've quoted it in part before.

When I love you, I can but allow
I had many an exquisite minute.
But the worst that I feel for you now
Hath even more luxury in it.
So, whether we're on or we're off,
Some witchery seems to await you.
To love you was pleasant enough,
But, O, 'tis delicious to hate you!

Nothing very new in the cynical stuff, you see. And love goes on, in spite of it.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Comment to George Graham Rice ... Wall street's so-called wolves ... [illegible] Rice, born Simon ... Jacob Rice, whose round face ... odd pedigree suggest a ... Clapham green grocer ... the most ... character the financial ... has ever turned out.

During his checkered career he has moved in and out of prisons several times, always turning up to amass another fortune. Those who know say that had he turned his extraordinary talents to honest financiering he would be one of the greatest capitalists of the world.

He popped into the headlines in 1919, when he came to town from Atlanta to defend an income tax charge. He claimed to be out of funds and as his own lawyer put up such an excellent defense he was acquitted. He expects parole soon.

Born on the lower East Side of respectable parents, Rice began advertising winners at race tracks for a fee of $10. He graduated from this to blue-sky stock selling and in his time made and lost a reputed total of one hundred millions.

Although he had expansive offices on Broad street he was never in it. An indefatigable worker, he operated from a suite in a deluxe uptown hotel. He literally worked 24 hours a day, incessantly puffing ... cigars and ... with naps at four hour intervals.

He was able to fall asleep at a moment's notice, arise, gulp cups of coffee and return to the grind. Oddly enough, his enormous loot was not wasted on wine, women and song. He was obsessed with a passion to pyramid earnings.

Most of this he spent for high priced legal services to cheat the law. His daily mail averaged five truck loads. Rice has always contended his rascalities were insignificant to those of New York's great banks. And he is writing a book to prove this. With ghastly figures.

* * *

One of the headline writers went suddenly cuckoo the other afternoon. His eight column streamer read: "Stocks Advance to New Low."

* * *

* * *

Word trickles from Adolph Menjou in London that cocktails have almost vanished at luncheon and dinner parties. Sherry supplants the cocktail, chiefly because it is cheaper.

* * *

The cocktail in New York however shows no shrinkage in popularity. And concoctions seem more potent than ever. In a half hour everybody is itching to grease themselves and swim channels. Invitations are amusing. Recently one read in businesslike fashion:

Dear Sir: Please drop in between 5 and 7. We are offering our free test hair curls at this time. And folks we mean curl.

* * *

One of Park avenue's ex-pheasant shooters and in opulent days a perennial host at twilight tipples tells me he used to prepare six cocktails for each guest and rarely had any left over. In my hardest cocktail days, six would have had me running up and down the ramparts.

* * *

Indeed I recall one winter dusk when Ray Robin, tired of nasty Gombast over boisterous ways, suddenly revolted and shouted he would drink six cocktails in a row if every one else would follow him. Otherwise he would stick to his table water. We pooled assets, passed the total to Harry with the handle-bar mustache at McCormick's on Columbus avenue near Seventy-second street and gravely do ned them in quick succession. The result is blurry. Nor will I ever know just how I happened to awaken feet up in a milk wagon jogging leisurely along the Grand Concourse at 5 a. m. with an off shoe tied around my neck by the laces and dangling like a lavaliere.

* * *

At the more austere cocktail parties my admiration is colossal for those worldlings ... pampered in the usual Broadway incontinence, who murmur such graceful things to the ladies. No one likes to pay compliments more. But I always feel such a fool the next morning.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

You think I'm not nice enough to you.

You bet I don't.

And why don't I?

AND IT WOULD BE A WHOLE LOT MORE PROFITABLE FOR ME.

You'd like me better. That would make the editors like me better. Then I'd get a raise.

But as it is, I'm in the dog house most of the time because I won't talk pretty, and any moment now you may have one of the gumdrop sisters filling this space instead of me.

But suppose I did start talking pretty to you ... telling you that you were all right ... weeping with you over your troubles ... encouraging you self pity? Would that help you?

No it wouldn't. For that's what ails you right now. You're already spending most of your time telling yourself that you're all right and being sorry for yourself. Why are you all muddled and messed up with life and yourself? That's why.

Yes I know you're miserable. I know people are unfair to you and take advantage of you. But the bitter truth, partner, is that you've hung that misery on yourself.

People are unfair to you because you're unfair to yourself. It's up to you to protect your own interests and develop your own talents. But you haven't done it. You've let yourself drift. You've indulged your cowardice and silliness, your laziness and stupidity. And then you expected that life would guard you against the consequences of your own cussedness. But Life hasn't. Life never does. Why should it? You were given a brain to plan your own destiny, a backbone to protect it. If you won't use 'em, whose fault is it?

How do I know these things about you? Because I know them about myself. I'm that way, too.

I muddle along in just the same way and I pile up just the same old consequences.

And does Talking Pretty to me do me any good? Does it help me to have someone flatter me and tell me what a Grand Gal I am, or have a Good Hard Cry with me when I'm feeling sunk and pouty?

No dearie, it does not.

IT MAKES A TRAMP OF ME.

And it will make a tramp of you.

What you and I need, nine times out of ten, is not a lot of sweet kisses, but a good, swift kick in the shin. Then we'd snap out of what ails us and amount to something. And, secretly, most of us know that this is true.

But are we grateful when somebody comes along and administers that kick?

America Enters No Conference on Debts

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

At the time of the visit of M. Laval and his secret conferences with Mr. Hoover, followed by a significant joint statement, we expressed the opinion that the understanding actually reached was this:

Mr. Hoover would ask for the revival of the World War debts commission for the purpose of getting a recommendation for a transfer of all or part of the debts of the 14 nations to the backs of the American people.

The "advisory experts" at Basle would recommend that this policy would be necessary to "save Germany."

A conference would then be called to put it up to the United States.

And should the United States reject the recommendations of Europe and some of our international bankers that we take over the debts of Europe, the Europeans would put the blame really due to the impossible reparations demanded on this country.

Well ...

Mr. Hoover has asked for the revival of the World War debts commission.

The advisory experts have practically made the recommendation we predicted.

And moving with the facility of greased machinery, the call has already been made for the international conference to put it up to us.

And even before the conference meets we are assured by the Paris correspondent of the New York Times that should we reject the proffered opportunity to pay the debts of the world "European public opinion is already being prepared to put the blame for any action upon the United States."

The prophesy is fulfilled.

Is Up to Europe To Cut Reparations

We agree that the reparations put on Germany were outrageously out of all proportion. We agree that these reparations must be cut down. But this is a matter for Europe and not for the United States, which took neither the reparations nor the territory that the other nations took.

There was not even the shadow of a suggestion when we made the loans to the debtor nations that their payment was conditioned on the reparations. Had there been any such conditions suggested, the loans would have been refused.

Had the loans been refused these debtor nations would have collapsed in the war and would now be paying reparations to Germany.

But the countries of Ramsay MacDonald, with whom Mr. Hoover secretly conferred, and M. Laval, with whom he secretly conferred, were ready with the invitation to the reparations conference within a few hours of the issuance of the report of the experts at Basle. Mr. MacDonald, who was not in London, did not have to return to the capital to consult with the Ministry about that, that we have no doubt, was all arranged for long ago. And this conference is to be predicated on the theory that the reparations and the debts are one.

Seeking to Transfer Debts to America

Is America to be represented in this particular conference called by England and Germany? If so, why? If it is to deal with reparations we are out—for we refused reparations and if we are represented it will mean that the administration is committed to the plan for the debtor nations to transfer the debts from the 14 nations to the backs of our own people.

That is the understanding in Europe. The Times dispatch from London says:

If a strong delegation is sent from Washington it will be taken as an encouraging sign that some help still will be forthcoming toward the economic recovery of Europe."

And Le Temps, the Paris paper, says:

"The attitude of the United States will be decisive with regard to the possibilities of the coming conference. Without the co-operation of Americans the adjustment of inter-governmental debts cannot be effectively examined."

There isn't a scintilla of doubt that the primary purpose of the coming conference is to saddle the debts of Europe on the American people.

Congress Is Bound By Own Amendment

And yet, how strange! The Congress, representing the American people, and both political parties to a considerable extent, has made it plain that it will not ratify any agreement to permit this country to assume the debts of the world. However, Europe may have read the reports in the administration organs here that the President is not bound by the amendment to the moratorium ratified. Of course, he is not bound. He may go ahead and enter into any agreement disadvantageous to his country he sees fit, but the Congress is bound; and no agreement the President may make will be worth the proverbial tinker's damn without the ratification of the Congress.

It seems passing strange that so many Europeans cling to the idea that we have an autocracy or a dictator in this country instead of a constitutional form of government operating under the representative system.

Europe Must Work And Stop Begging

It will be interesting to note what the President will do with the invitation to send a delegation to sit in on the plan to reduce or cancel the debts. We shall know soon no doubt. But the speculation is interesting. The correspondent in Washington of one of the administration organs in New York tells us that should the government of the United States not be represented—and there is no reason why it should be—an "official observer" may be sent to the conference or "an American banker not officially connected with the government."

Why should the government of the people of the United States send "an American banker?" If the conference is to deal with reparations we have nothing to do with that; if it is to deal with the debts due us from other nations we have nothing to agree to there.

Thus there is no call for an official representation in the conference from this country.

If for some reason an "unofficial observer" is to be sent, then some official representative of the United States can observe, and we need no banker for the job. Not that there is any objection to bankers as such, but many of these, and such as might be sent would certainly be interested in any plan that would facilitate the collection of the private loans through the saddling of the government debts on the people of the United States.

Representative Rankins struck a keynote when he said:

"I believe the sooner Europe realizes she cannot dip into the pockets of the United States to maintain vast armaments, the better it will be for Europe and the world. Once this fact is driven home to Europe, I believe she will get to work and stop begging off on her obligations."
